Determine Physical Rigors

Spacemen Borman, Lovell Begin Three Days of Tests

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr., who sailed far enough during their two weeks in space to make 10 round trips to the moon, begin three days of medical checks here today to determine what physical rigors space travel has on man.

People who talked with the astronauts said their main complaint of the 14-day flight was the confinement — they couldn't stretch out. They asserted they dreamed a lot during the mission, sources said. And Borman was quoted as saying that Lovell was "dreaming" all the time.

Food on board the spacecraft — some of it dehydrated — got tedious and somewhat objectionable toward the end of the flight, the sources noted.

Praise Ship

Air Force Lt. Col. Borman and Navy Cmdr. Lovell, as well as Gemini 7 astronauts, Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford, praised the Titan 2 booster and Gemini spacecraft.

All four also remarked how easy it was to see through each other's spacecraft windows while they were rendezvousing high above the earth Wednesday.

Schirra was quoted as saying that the Gemini 7 capsule appeared twice as bright as the brightest star, Sirius, when he was approaching it and Schirra and Stafford indicated that rendezvous was easier than they thought.

Stafford and Schirra copiloted two small airplanes on Thursday from the prime recovery ship, the aircraft carrier Wasp, to Bermuda.

On the way, sources said, they tried to fly their two aircraft in formation and noted that it was much easier to pilot two Gemini spacecraft in formation, even though the spaceships were speeding at 17,500 miles an hour.

Persons who talked with the astronauts quoted Borman as saying he thought future spacemen should not have to fly in bulky space suits on long-duration flights. And if a "back up" pressure system is needed, Borman suggested it be built into the spacecraft rather than the space suits, sources noted.

The two Gemini 7 pilots flew much of their mission in their underwear, and would have done it even more if Mission Control permitted them.

Borman and Lovell are scheduled to stay at Cape Kennedy until Wednesday, concentrating on medical examinations. They then plan to fly to the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Tex., to begin eight days of telling and retelling the story of their marathon flight to project officials.

Navy Capt. Schirra and Air Force Maj. Stafford flew from nearby Patrick Air Force Base to Houston Sunday afternoon, after a playful reunion with Borman and Lovell.

Schirra and Stafford were not on hand to meet two Navy planes that flew the Gemini 7 crew from the Wasp to Cape Kennedy.

Instead, Schirra was crouched in a doorway at astronaut crew headquarters on neighboring Merritt Island. When Borman and Lovell walked down the hall, he jumped out and began beating the air with his arms as if the Gemini 7 crew needed landing instructions.

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — Three thousand fishermen are missing and believed drowned in the cyclone which hit the southern part of East Pakistan last Wednesday, the Manoharkali Fishermen's Cooperative Society said today.

Thousands of others on the shore were drowned in tidal waves which followed the cyclone.

13 Persons Killed

Dominican Rebels, U. S. Troops Clash

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The precarious peace efforts in the Dominican Republic appeared today to have been dealt a shattering setback by a battle between army troops and former rebels.

At least 13 persons were believed killed in two shooting incidents Sunday. Twelve were reported killed in a six-hour battle that raged around a hotel on the outskirts of Santiago, the country's No. 2 city.

There were conflicting reports on the cause of the battle that pitched army tanks against an estimated 125 former rebels barricaded in the rambling, two-story Hotel Matum. Shooting ended following the arrival of 150 U.S. paratroopers of the Inter-American Peace Force.

Violence Spreads

The violence spread to Santo Domingo, 120 miles to the south, where a policeman was disarmed and fatally shot through the head by a member of an angry pro-rebel mob, one of many roaming the littered downtown streets.

The tensions and threats by civilians in Santo Domingo to bring out hidden weapons prompted the IAPF to reinforce its small garrisons in the former rebel territory downtown.

Midnight Blast

A violent explosion rocked the western part of Santo Domingo at midnight. There was no immediate report of the cause of the blast.

The Santiago hotel battle appeared to dash hopes of reintegrating rebel troops into the regular armed forces — a key step toward creating a peaceful climate for the general election planned for next June.

13 Evacuated

The Santiago fighting took the lives of nine army regulars and two rebels, including Col. Juan Lora Fernandez, former chief of staff of the rebel army. An unidentified civilian who joined the rebels inside the hotel also was killed, the hotel manager said.

Thirteen out of 18 Americans registered at the 45-room hotel were evacuated safely to a nearby air base, U.S. Embassy sources said. The other five were not at the hotel at the time.

All the Americans are working on a technical aid project initiated by Texas A&M University at the School of Superior Agricultural Studies near Santiago.

Highway Toll Draws Nearer 1,000 Mark

Nine Names Added By Weekend Crashes On Wisconsin Roads

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wisconsin's traffic toll closed in on the grim 1,000-dead mark for the second straight year as nine persons were killed in weekend crashes.

Among the victims Sunday were two Beloit teen-agers, a man walking home from church, a college student, and a young mother who froze to death.

The year — long fatality list mounted to 982.

It compared with 1,036 on the same day last year, when the final figure eventually reached a record 1,059 deaths. The 1964 count passed 1,000 on Dec. 7.

Steven Bonafede, 18, and Dennis Porter, 18, both of Beloit, were killed Sunday when their auto smashed into the abutment of an overpass on Interstate 90 two miles south of Janesville.

Charlotte Warrick, 18, Jenkintown, Pa., remained in critical condition at a Janesville hospital early today.

Pedestrian Killed

A pedestrian, Andro Shimo, 83, who was walking home from a church meeting, was struck and killed by a car as he crossed a Kenosha intersection Sunday night. It was Kenosha's first traffic fatality in 307 days.

Paul G. Case, 19, Milwaukee, a student at Ripon College, died Sunday when his car crashed into a tree along Highway 23 in the town of Rosendale in Fond du Lac County.

The body of Mrs. Sharon Glaser, 26, Prairie Farm, was found on the bank of Turtle Creek west of Prairie Farm in Barron County Sunday about four hours after her car had plunged down an embankment and landed on its top in the icy stream.

Authorities said Mrs. Glaser evidently escaped from the flooded car but collapsed as she climbed the steep bank and died of overexposure. Her husband found the body as he searched for her. She was the mother of four children.

Seven-Year Term

De Gaulle Wins Again In Close Race With Red-Backed Mitterrand

PARIS (AP) — France settled back for more years of Gaullism today following President Charles de Gaulle's re-election to another seven-year term.

Although De Gaulle's failure to win on the first ballot two weeks ago gave clear notice that his popularity had slipped, almost no one expected the autocratic old man to alter his policy goals. He may soften his methods, however.

In the run-off election Sunday, complete returns from European France and all overseas territories except Guiana and Polynesia gave the 75-year-old president 13,063,134 votes, or 55.18 per cent. Leftist Francois Mitterrand got 10,609,744.

About 84 per cent of the registered voters balloted, a near record turnout.

Mitterrand termed De Gaulle's victory "mediocre" and said he would turn his attention to the National Assembly elections in November 1967.

"All my efforts," he said, "will be to make the legislative elections the decisive engagement which will save the republic from the adventure into which a discounted Gaullism is going to plunge it."

De Gaulle, who begins his new term Jan. 8, issued no victory statement from the seclusion of his estate in eastern France. His supporters were overjoyed that he had pulled out a comfortable margin after his humiliating first-round setback, in which he won only 43.9 per cent of the vote.

On the international scene, De

Gaulle faces two items of unfinished business.

One is the negotiations in the six-nation European Common Market, which De Gaulle brought to an abrupt halt last June to block attempts to give the economic community's executive more power.

De Gaulle opposes any move toward supranationality by the Common Market administration. The five other members scheduled a meeting in Brussels today to discuss the impasse. They hoped for some word from De Gaulle that he is ready to talk again.

The second major international item on De Gaulle's agenda is reform of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. De Gaulle has called for an end to military integration in the 15-nation alliance and has warned that if a basic change is not made, France will bow out by 1969.

Concrete proposals by De Gaulle for changes in NATO are expected early in 1966.

On the international scene, De could send a wall of fire sweeping into Saigon.

Full details of the fighting on the outskirts were not immediately available.

The Nha Be storage area was fully lighted, more so than usual, as though the defenders were taking no chances.

The rumpus in mid-evening could have been intended by the Viet Cong to mark the anniversary.

Throws Grenade

Earlier in the evening, a terrorist hurled a grenade at a truckload of U.S. soldiers on a bridge on the northern outskirts of the city en route to a U.S. base.

The incident occurred despite the tightest security in years in the city of more than 1.4 million to guard against any major birthday incident. Officials said the wave of terrorism could continue until the new year.

The Communists took no holiday in the field.

Johnson Administration In Middle of Dispute Over Viet Nam Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration found itself caught up today in a stormy dispute over its publication of correspondence reporting and probing a conditional peace offer from Communist - North Viet Nam.

The storm overshadowed the central question whether Hanoi had in fact made an authentic approach for a settlement on its own terms and might yet respond to a U.S. request for clarification of conditions in it.

President Johnson could try to revive the roundabout peace exchange with President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam by sending some kind of new message in Ho's direction, but administration officials said today that there had been no decision on any new U.S. action. The secrecy covers were torn from the incident last Friday afternoon after the St. Louis Post-Dispatch reported that a new peace offer from Hanoi had been rejected by the United States.

Rush to Blame

Dr. Giorgio La Pira, former mayor of Florence and a left-wing Christian-Democrat, one of the principal intermediaries in the affair, virtually accused Secretary of State Dean Rusk of sabotaging what La Pira took to be a hopeful exchange on peace.

"Rusk is to blame," La Pira was quoted in press dispatches from Florence, "because he obviously wanted this mission to fail by disclosing in advance what had been done."

State Department officials, calling the charge outrageous, said the publication was forced by concern for what they contended was a partially erroneous account which had already become public. Rusk was reported angered and upset by the criticism.

Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and another who played the role of go-between, said Sunday on ABC's "Issues and Answers" the administration would have "preferred to carry on this discussion, in privacy" but was faced with a "crisis of confidence" with the public over the credibility of its peace policy. Goldberg argued the administration acted correctly in releasing the correspondence.

Continue to Hope

Goldberg said he did not think disclosure of the exchange over peace negotiations would hurt any chances that now exist for such talks.

"I think we would continue to hope that this matter will be transferred from the battlefield to the conference table. So I do not feel discouraged," he said.

"If there is a genuine desire on both sides to negotiate, that desire will surmount whatever the difficulties are of disclosure."

But Dr. Benjamin Spock and H. Stuart Hughes, cochairmen of the Committee for a Sane

Erhard Arrives In Washington For LBJ Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and President Johnson open two days of talks today with the emphasis on Germany's efforts to gain a larger role in Europe's nuclear defenses.

The Germans have no nuclear weapons and rely on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as a deterrent against what Erhard has said are 1,000 middle-range Soviet missiles aimed at Western Europe.

Erhard was expected to present a plan for expanded control of those nuclear weapons now in Western Europe.

Administration officials knew in advance the broad outlines of his proposal, but declined public comment until after Erhard fills in the details.

As understood prior to the German's arrival, this would involve general support for the British idea of an Atlantic Nuclear Force — ANF.

The Erhard-Envisaged force, as understood in Washington, would be a fleet of American and British submarines equipped with Polaris missiles and jointly owned by interested nations. At the outset this probably would include the United States, Britain, West Germany, Italy and the Netherlands.

Bitter Battle Ended Kohler Pact Okayed; Labor Peace Prevails

KOHLER, Wis. (AP) — Full labor peace prevailed for the first time in nearly 12 years as employees reported to work at Kohler Co. today.

United Auto Workers Local 833 ratified a new one-year contract with the plumbingware firm 428-17 Saturday night. It was the final item of the $4.5 million settlement of the bitter labor battle that started in April, 1954.

The dispute lasted 11 years, 8 months and 13 days until the contract vote capped the final settlement.

Local 833 President Charles W. Conrardy Jr., one of the original strikers, said there was satisfaction and surprisingly little discussion over the settlement as members met at the Sheboygan Falls municipal building to ratify the contract.

Back Wages

Kohler Co. said last Friday it would pay $3 million in back wages and $1.5 million in pension benefits for an estimated 1,400 strikers who were ordered reinstated by the National Labor Relations Board in 1960. Court fights over the NLRB ruling had continued until this year.

The one-year contract is the fourth negotiated with Kohler since 1962.

Today was the first day on the job for the full labor force since the settlement, although some departments worked Sunday.

The UAW local has about 1,350 members among 2,900 eligible employees at Kohler.

"We've worked to the point that no one avoids anyone else any more," said Conrardy.

Get Along

"They get along together quite well. They ride together in cars back and forth to work. And I think our membership will keep growing the way it has."

Kohler had begun hiring replacements and resumed production eight weeks after the strike began. Violence erupted frequently during the strike with a full-scale riot breaking out in 1955 in nearby Sheboygan over unloading of ship cargo planned to go to Kohler.

Strangers' Yule Cards Lead to Firm Friends

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — If you are bored with your present friends, there is an easy way to make more interesting ones.

You do it with Christmas cards. Instead of sending them to people you know — a waste of penmanship at best — you send them to total strangers.

There is little point in cluttering up postal bags with season greetings to people who make up part of the hamburger of your daily living.

Senses Dulled
You know their hypocrisies, and they know yours, and the ordeal of the commonplace has dulled your sense of mutual wonder.

To regain your sense of human adventure do this:

Get a copy of "Who's Who in America" and send at alphabetical random a Christmas card to 100 people in 100 different towns and cities.

Scribble the following note on each:

"Dear Joe or Jack or Pete or Algernon:

"I'll never forget your kindness in lending me a helping hand when I needed it, and now that I am in a position to return the favor I just want you to know that — well, I guess I don't have to say more."

The chances are that by return mail you will get only 99 cards wishing you the best of health during the new year. The 100th person will be out of town or dead or something.

Don't Know You

None of the 99 who respond, of course, will know you at all. But you will have piqued their interest in two ways.

They will be flattered by the thought they have done a good deed that their vanity doesn't remember, and they will cherish the idea that your undying gratitude will support them if they ever need help.

All people, including those listed in "Who's Who," like the romantic illusion they have a welcome guest in their home. They will wine you and dine you and think it a privilege to do so. Sooner or later, of course, a puzzled look will come across their face, and they will tactfully try to question you about that great favor they did you in the past.

Look in Eye

You look them straight in the eye and reply:

"Well, Joe, you may have forgotten — but I'll always remember. Let's leave it at that. Shall we have another spot of your bourbon for auld lang syne — and call it a night?"

You will leave them feeling they are nobler than they knew. You will have enriched their lives. And, of course, you won't have made your own life any poorer.

You will be on a first-name basis with more talented successful people than anybody since Jim Farley was a lad.

Yes, indeed. Why send Christmas cards to the bums you already know? Send them instead to total strangers and make some new and valuable lifelong friends.

Target of Viet Cong

Trapped Medic Thinks Of His Wife, Kids

By PETER ARNETT

LAI KHE, South Viet Nam (AP) — Sgt. Igors Mocalkin began thinking of his wife and kids as the shrapnel from his own artillery sliced through the bamboo brush he was hiding in. He thought of his family because at this time, midnight, he had exhausted every emotion except loneliness.

In the hours before his artillery unknowingly made him a target, Mocalkin, 29, a quiet-spoken 1st Infantry Division medic, had endured more than most men are asked to endure in a lifetime.

There was a duel with the Viet Cong rifleman, then a nightmarish search for a wounded buddy, the realization that in his search he had crossed into Viet Cong lines, the strafing by armed helicopters, and hammering by his own fighter bombers.

Attacked Convoy
Then the artillery came bursting through the jungle from the 1st Division guns at Lai Khe, seeking out the Viet Cong that had attacked Mocalkin's road convoy but reaching ever nearer him.

That was when Mocalkin found loneliness, and the memory of his wife and family.

"I was wondering if she would move with the four kids from Denver back to Boston with my folks," Mocalkin recalls. "I was wondering how she would find life without me after she got the telegram that I'd had it."

"It was so lonely, and I was so helpless out there. But I'd cried all my tears." The medic was no softy. Broad-shouldered and with penetrating blue eyes, Mocalkin had fled to the United States from Latvia when the Communists overran East Europe. When he grew up he made the U.S. Army his career.

Medics Killed
He was with eight medic buddies when the Viet Cong attacked the convoy, leaving three ambulances isolated. Two of the medics were killed by Viet Cong lying at the roadside. Three others were wounded. After leaping from his Jeep and crawling under it, he noticed a green hat and then a raised head 25 feet away. The eyes flickered at him, a rifle barrel was raised, and there was a sheet of flame.

The enemy bullet punctured the Jeep tire near Mocalkin's head. His return volley found its mark in the Viet Cong's skull.

A U.S. doctor, Capt. Maxwell Ezell Cline, lay across the road in a ditch and cursed the fact that as medics his group had only a minimum of weapons. Cline, from Spartanburg, S.C., had fired off all his pistol ammunition early.

Play Dead
A Viet Cong was soon to play a game with him, tossing stones at him through the brush to determine his exact location. Cline was so sure the Viet Cong would overrun his position that he planned to cut his arm, let the blood run and play dead.

Spec. 6 Kenneth Maddox from Lawton, Okla., leaped from Jeep to Jeep with his rifle bouncing like a machine gun. He, too, was lamenting that medics are meant to be men of peace, according to Army manuals.

Maddox had greater reason to complain when his weapon jammed and he had to keep pumping by hand. Both Cline and Maddox were picked up that night by a U.S. plane.

Infantry force moving up the bloodied highway.

But not Mocalkin.

He was going through his ordeal by armed helicopter and fighter bomber. Soon it was the artillery. Every brief lull in the artillery barrages, Mocalkin would hear the Viet Cong, some of them women, tramping by him toward the swamps, apparently carrying their dead and sinking them in the mud.

Mocalkin had five cartridges left in his rifle. When the artillery barrages lifted at daybreak, he moved back to the highway where the three ambulance Jeeps lay twisted and looted.

Signaled Bomber
A truck wound down the road but it was full of Vietnamese and Mocalkin turned back into the jungle. With a mirror pulled from a Jeep, he signaled a U.S. bomber high in the sky.

Soon, a helicopter daringly landed beside him and Mocalkin was back from the dead.

An officer remembers: "Mocalkin didn't say anything to us on the helicopter. He looked straight ahead, and then at us. A big tear rolled down his face."

Mocalkin's night of horror happened a month ago, but to him it is still as real as if it happened last night.

First Pay-TV In Britain Starts Jan. 7

Royal Ballet Movie, Wrestling Among Programs Scheduled

LONDON (AP) — Britain's first pay-television system will begin operation Jan. 7 showing mainly feature films and sports events such as a prerecorded wrestling program from Chicago.

"An evening with the Royal Ballet," starring Margot Fonteyn and Rudolph Nureyev, also is scheduled.

Pay-television will start initially in the London boroughs of Westminster and Southwark with 2,000 to 3,000 subscribers. By late summer, Pay-TV, Ltd., hopes to have 10,000. Its chairman, Lord Brasbourne, said there is a sound basis for a pay-television system in Britain since it has the biggest television relay system by wire outside the Soviet Union.

Shilling Boxes
More than 100,000 homes in London are connected to television relay services and wires carrying the programs run near 500,000 homes. In the country as a whole more than a million homes receive television by relay services.

Subscribers will have a small gray box into which they will insert two-shilling coins — 28 cents. A feature film will cost six shillings.

"We will be very happy if the average subscriber spends about $1.40 a week," said Lord Brasbourne. "We shall be putting out 50 hours of programs a week but we expect our subscribers to be selective viewers."

Each feature film will be shown at four different times in a two-week period.

Plan for New State Agency Is Opposed

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Leaders of the Natural Resources Committee of State Agencies (NRCSA) have voted to oppose a pending legislative bill that proposes to set up a new State Department of Water Resources to take over water management and protection programs now handled by several state departments.

The measure was examined by the liaison committee of the NRCSA at the request of Gov. Warren P. Knowles, who has been considering a special legislative message on water pollution programs and other problems and has indicated that he is interested in the proposed reorganization.

But the committee report, which is likely to be followed by a similar action by the entire committee which consists of principal state department heads, has replied that existing programs can be successful — if only the legislature can be persuaded to provide the resources in the form of larger appropriations.

Drafted by Borg
The new water department bill was drafted by Assemblyman George Borg of Walworth County and attracted considerable interest when it was offered late in the summer session of the legislature. It remains on the Assembly calendar and will probably get a vote when the lawmakers return to the capitol next spring.

Gov. Knowles, meanwhile, in pursuit of a program of new water protection and management legislation that he may present to the lawmakers at that time, has named a special study committee on water resources headed by John Potter, Wood County lawyer and a former state senator.

Depending on the findings and conclusions of that group, Knowles may present a major water conservation program to the spring legislative session.

Revision Likely in State For Public Aid Formulas

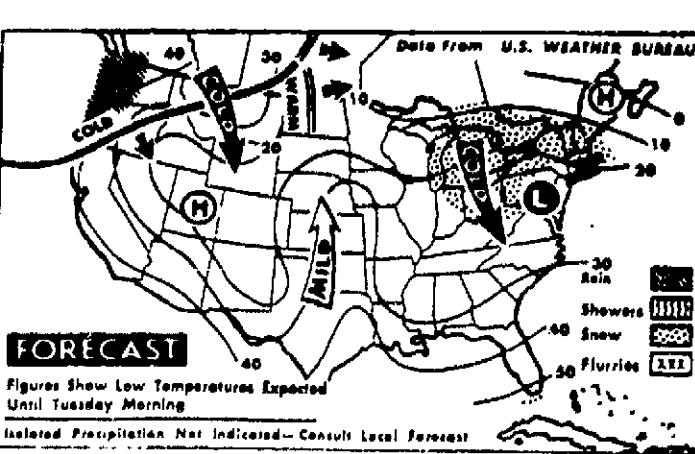

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The complex accounting rules under which the multi-million dollar public assistance programs in Wisconsin are supported by the federal, state and county governments may be due for revision.

A Legislative Council interim committee has begun a review of the formulas under which the costs of old age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the blind and other benefits which in the aggregate disburse about $80 million yearly in the state.

Two critical reviews recently made of state government financial operations by private study groups working under legislative authority have called for such revisions.

Most recently the Kellett task force on state government efficiency and economy called for such revisions "in the interest of equity and simplicity."

Annual Como Christmas Show Tonight

BY TV SCOUT
6:30 Channels 4-5 — Again, the spirit of Christmas. Perry's annual show, with the aid of Roberta Peters, Jackie Vernon and the Muppets, has a variety of Yuletide souvenirs. As is his custom, the host narrates and sings carols of the first Christmas. He also reruns the film from last year's show of the Nativity pageant in Rome, and joins Miss Peters in a duet of "Christmas Is a Birthday." On the lighter side are Jackie Vernon, as a solemn Santa, and the Muppets busy with a reindeer dance. (Color)

6:30-7 Channels 4-5 — Hula-balo is also brimming with the spirit of the season. In a change of pace, Jerry Lewis plays "daddy" to a flock of youngsters new to the program. Little Lisa, 9, sings "Puppet on a String," the Dick Williams Kids offer "What's New Pussycat," and Tony Sales and the Tiger bounce to "When the Party's Over." (Color)

6:30-7 Channels 2-7-12 — For those who care: To Tell the Truth celebrates its 10th anniversary. Bud Collyer hosts, and panelists involved in the quiz game are Kitty Carlisle, Tom Poston, Peggy Cass and Orson Bean.

7:30-8 Channels 4-5 — Dr. Kildare, with the third episode of a three-parter, is concerned over the health and welfare of Darren McGavin, an anthropologist. The problem here is to pull him through a nasty case of pneumonia so the medics can study his ailing kidneys. (Color)

7:30-8 Channels 11-8-9 — "The Widow Fay" on The Legend of Jesse James is a screwball, tense drama that appears better than it is because of Ann Southern in its central role. She plays a tough Ozarks mom who "started scratching out a living 50 years ago and is still scratching."

8:30 Channels 11-6-9 — A Man Called Shenandoah stumbles across an ignorant Mexican priest who is trying to win the faith and hearts of his parishioners by toting a church bell to their cathedral. It's a slim little tale which seems big by the acting of Nehemiah Persoff as Father Rodriguez.

9-10 Channels 2-12 — Hollywood Talent Scouts, with Art Linkletter as its host, which had a run last summer, returns. It's recommended for those who like to see what kind of entertainment taste their favorite entertainers have. New acts are introduced by Debbie Reynolds, Ann Miller, Roy Rogers, Dale Evans and Jack Carter. (Color)

New Negro Theater in Harlem Gives Vent to Hatred Against Whites

Poet-Playwright LeRoi Jones Found Black Arts Repertory Group, School

By HOLLIE WEST
NEW YORK (AP) — Each night in a makeshift Harlem theater a group of young Negroes give vent to their hatred of white people.

They act out dreams of a day when the Negro will stand apart from the white world, and Harlem will be an independent nation.

Their leader is the bitterly antiwhite poet-playwright, LeRoi Jones, 31. He founded the seven-month-old Black Arts Repertory Theater-School, partly supported by federal funds.

"I don't see anything wrong with hating white people," says Jones. "Harlem must be taken from the beast and gain its sovereignty as a black nation."

Rejects integration. Jones rejects integration as a solution for the American race problem. He advocates force to bring about outright separation of black and white.

courses were taught to about 80 children between the ages of 7 and 13. Jones said they were also instructed in "hard core nationalism."

In the theater the use of white actors is avoided by rubbing black faces with chalk.

All the productions seethe with rage against "Whitey," an all-inclusive term for whites, who usually are portrayed as homosexuals.

The word "Negro" is avoided as a white invention. "Black man" is a term of pride.

Federal Funds. The project's pace stepped up after $40,000 in federal antipoverty funds was made available. Four hundred students were recruited for an eight-week summer teaching session.

The group also put on a five-week outdoor program, attracting thousands to thrice-weekly night presentations of drama, poetry readings, dance and jazz concerts on dimly lit street corners.

The late black nationalist Malcolm X is spoken of reverently. A photograph of Malcolm hangs over the desk of Jones' secretary.

Some Good Seen. Bayard Rustin, architect of the 1963 civil rights march on Washington, says the preaching and teaching of Jones and his followers is having little impact.

Alexander J. Allen, executive director of the Greater New York League, thinks the group might have some value, explaining: "It is creating a new cultural awareness and that is a constructive thing."

"There are certain aspects of the need for heritage and the need for pride in blackness that are very constructive. For too long we have been afflicted by a set of values that made white a positive value and black a negative one," Allen says.

A police official commented that "as a group we don't feel they represent a threat."

Bitter Travesty. One play he has written for the Black Arts group is called "Jello" and is a murderous travesty on the old Jack Benny radio program.

The play's hero is Rochester, Benny's gravel-voiced chauffeur. Rochester winds up killing all the whites in the cast, Benny included.

Last April Jones left his cold water Greenwich Village flat, his Jewish wife and their two children, and with several other Negro artists moved "to Harlem with our people."

They founded the theater to provide a platform for the artists and, in Jones' words, "to re-educate the nearly half a million Harlem Negroes to find new pride in their color."

A three-story tenement in the center of Harlem was converted to their purposes. Classes were set up in such subjects as the cultural history and political philosophy of the black man in America, play-writing, painting, dance and sculpture.

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — New Jersey's traffic death toll has passed the 1,000-mark for the 13th year since the state began compiling records.

Sills said 1,008 traffic deaths were reported as of the beginning of this week. He said the deaths exceeded 1,000 for 11 successive years, 1927 through 1937. The toll was below that figure from 1938 through 1963, but reached 1,071 in 1964, he said.

Adams and Eves Swing Easy In Green Bay Garden of Eden

GREEN BAY — Once a month on weekends single persons from the Fox Cities have been migrating north to this city for swinging parties with a group whose name conjures up notions of fig leaves and Garden of Eden apples.

A year ago an assortment of young Green Bayites in their early 20s rebelled against what they considered to be a Babbitt approach to social life here. They efficiently organized an unusual social group which called itself the Adams and Eves.

At first they met in each other's apartments on a small scale. By least weekend their concept had grown to the point where 250 stag Adams and Eves showed up for the Christmas party at Pamperin Park's dance hall.

State-Wide Popularity

The reputation of the group has grown even faster than the membership roles and now the invitations are sent out to "singles" all over the state.

Most of the attraction of the club is in the name, but, in truth, the name is misleading.

While the parties thrown by the one-time social rebels do swing — with hot rock and roll bands, athletic dancing and socializing — there is no sense of being playboy plus.

Only beer is served at the dances; the Adams show up in coats and ties; the Eves in subdued date dresses, and the dances end on schedule at one a.m.

Afterwards groups form for smaller post-party get-togethers. But even these aren't necessarily a Green Bay Eden.

At one last Friday the main attraction was an economy size jar of peanut butter in the middle of the floor with crackers for scooping (No knives). Milk, tea, blackberry brandy and beer supplemented the peanut butter.

The same group met the following night for a spaghetti and swimming party at a poolside apartment.

The prime mover in the rebellion was Wilfred White, an import to the area who works at the Proctor and Gamble Co. Charmin paper mill here.

Since he is somewhat publicity-shy, the public relations for the group are left in the hands of an art teacher in the Green Bay public school system, Elizabeth (Liz) Henkel, a tall, striking No. 1 Eve, who refers to herself alternately as the "Lizard" or the "Green Giant."

With an off-beat leadership, she gets friends to send out the invitations, collect the dollar and a half entry and organizes the next month's gathering.

The only drawback to the club's growth, she said, is that things come naturally when Adams meet Eves, and in the year of the club's operation, some 15 Adams have led their Eves down the aisle.

Charity Ball Launches Party Season

The holiday party season for 1965 was launched in festive and traditional style Saturday evening at the Infant Welfare Circle of The King's Daughters Charity Ball. The event, held for the 33rd time this season, took place at North Shore Golf Club.

The party, which serves to support a number of charity programs through The King's Daughters Foundation of the Circle, began for many couples at cocktail parties at the homes of friends. Entertaining at such pre-Ball affairs were the John Menns, the Andrew J. Sharps, Dr. and Mrs. Carl Koletzke and Dr. and Mrs. Earl A. Fetting.

Cocktails were also party-starters at the Club, which set the guests in a party mood with its traditional multi-colored two-story Christmas tree in the foyer. The ballroom was lovely with natural evergreen and gold decor.

Centerpieces were composed of white chrysanthemums and greenery. Over 150 of the guests chose to dine at the club before the dance, at which Bob Miada's orchestra provided music. The majority of women chose long ball gowns, in colors as delightful as the season. Fabrics of velvet, brocade and satin lent loveliness to both long and short dresses.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Robert DeCock, Mrs. James Grist and Mrs. D. W. Russler.

Mrs. Henry W. Bailey was chairman and Mrs.

Roger A. Baird, co-chairman, of this year's 'successful' charity party. Working with the committee heads were Mrs. Lois Meade, Mrs. Darwin E. Smith, Mrs. Ralph A. McGowan and Mrs. Charles R. Seaborne Jr.

Guests at a cocktail party at the Andrew Sharp home also started the evening in a cordial mood. At the snack table are Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Sawtell, Neenah, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Snyder, Menasha. Below, chatting at North Shore during dinner, are Mr. and Mrs. Thor Holm, Sacramento, Calif., and Mrs. Lois Meade. Mrs. Holm is Mrs. Meade's daughter. The Holm family is in the Fox Cities for the holiday.

Diabetes Still a Leading Cause of Death

More than half of America's 4,000,000 diabetics aren't even aware they have the disease, according to the U.S. Public Health Service. Another 5 1/2 million Americans are potential victims — yet most people know very little about this chronic ailment.

Here are answers to seven common questions about diabetes — and what you can do to protect yourself and members of your family:

What is diabetes? You may define it as "too much sugar in the blood," but excessive blood sugar is only a symptom; actually, diabetes is a disease in which the body manufactures an insulin — a substance which enables it to turn sugar into energy — then either doesn't produce enough insulin or doesn't use it effectively.

Can Cause Blindness
How dangerous is diabetes? According to statistics supplied by researchers, diabetes is the third leading cause of blindness in the U.S. and the eighth leading cause of death.

Are some people more prone to diabetes than others? Yes. The most likely candidates for the disease are:

People with diabetic relatives; people over forty; women (two of every three victims are female, and the more children a woman bears, the greater are her chances of becoming a diabetic; and over-weight people (more than 80 out of 100 adult diabetics are overweight before their condition develops.)

What is the best way to diagnose diabetes? The most effective method of detecting diabetes is the blood test. And now with the introduction of the painless, instantaneous B-D Unopette test kit, a yearly check by your doctor should be routine. School and community drives are an excellent way to make the public aware of this menace and to encourage people to get regular checks. Unfortunately, many hidden diabetics are unaware of its symptoms or too apathetic to do anything about them!

Number of Symptoms
What are the symptoms of diabetes? If you detect any of the following warning signs, see your doctor immediately and ask him to run a blood test to check for the possible development of diabetes. Check if these symptoms appear: cuts and bruises that are slow in healing; constant fatigue; pain in fingers and toes; frequent urination; intense itching; a change in vision.

What if I or a member of my family gets diabetes? Thanks to the discovery of the method of obtaining insulin, in 1921, it became possible for diabetics to live a nearly normal life. Over the years many devices have been produced to make self-injection of insulin easier. More than 30 years ago, the Busher automatic injector simplified the operation. And last year, sterile disposable hypodermic needles and syringes in handy 7 and 30 day units were introduced. The needles' main advantage is their extra sharpness, which produces less pain. And disposable syringes provide not only greater convenience for the diabetic, but also increased safety.

What can I do to help protect my community? One way is to get behind a community diabetes-detection drive, or to work with one if it has already been started. To be effective the drive should have support of local doctors. Diagnosis should be followed up by letter, phone calls and home visits whenever necessary.

Support Detection Drive
Make certain the detection drive is well publicized. The Chamber of Commerce and other civic groups should be asked for support, if only to publicize it to their members and urge that they be tested. Senior citizen clubs should be

Single Hand May Decide Match

"Some of our matches were decided by a single hand," Warren Blank reminisced the other day. Blank was practicing for the big prize tournament in Las Vegas, scheduled for late January, in the hope of stepping up from his 1965 second place to the top spot.

"In one of our early matches," Blank continued, "Both teams played at six spades against the opening lead of the

Among the educational materials available are posters for pharmacy and other store windows; counter cards; educational leaflets telling who should be tested and why; one to five minute films for TV, theater and service club showings; news items for local papers and spot announcements for local radio and TV, to name just a few.

Diabetes is your problem. Don't be one of the 2.3 million Americans who have symptoms of the disease and don't know they are victims of diabetes, one of the most common ailments of our time.

Let School Wait a Semester; Enjoy New-Born Baby First

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: I am a 24-year-old mother of a one-year-old boy, and I am expecting another child next month. I want to finish my remaining semester's work for a B.A. degree after the baby is born. Would I be doing right by my children to leave them with a baby sitter? I would be with them five days of the week and at school for two days. Three evenings, I would leave an hour before they're ready for bed-time. So I wouldn't be leaving them with a babysitter for much time.

During my time at home, I plan to do what I always do. I'll leave my studying to the time when the children are taking their naps or are in bed at diamonds, and the club finesse lost. Down one.

"This was very unlucky for him because the odds were 8 to 1 in his favor as he played the hand."

Sure Thing

Blank didn't rely on favorable odds because he had a sure thing. He took the ace of hearts, the ace of spades and the top diamonds, but then he led the jack of hearts from dummy and discarded his last diamond, allowing West to win the trick.

If West returned a club, South would get a free finesse. If West returned a heart, dummy would ruff while South discarded the queen of clubs.

If West could return the queen of diamonds, South would ruff and get a trick later with dummy's jack. If West could return a low diamond, declarer would play the jack from dummy. He would either win a trick at once with the jack or would ruff out the queen of diamonds, thus setting up dummy's last diamond.

In short, West could make a safe return only if he fished a card out of the other deck.

night, so they won't have my attention taken away from them or the house.

Our babysitter is a very reliable middle-aged woman who gives children love and attention and is consistent with them. Our boy already knows and trusts her. Mrs. B.J.

Wait a semester after your baby's birth to enroll. That way, you'll be home to help your older child get accustomed to the new infant, and you'll also get a chance to enjoy your babe-in-arms.

It would probably be wiser to take only half a program when you return to school, rather than a full program. The added semester before you can graduate is little enough to pay for the added insurance that you won't have to skimp on your studies to get everything done in the few hours you plan to make available for studying.

Dear Dr. Jones: I have a boy who will be four years old next month, but who still isn't potty trained. I've been most patient with him ever since he was one year old, trying to teach him to go. I've tried everything from spanking and punishing him through forcing him to wear dirty diapers, but I just can't get it through to him that he must go on the toilet or at least tell me when he wants to go. He is very bright in everything else and understands right from wrong. Why can't he learn this? Mrs. M.A.

Probably because you're making him so angry and terrified that it wipes every idea from his mind except the desire to make you angry and scared.

What's the use of his telling you he needs to use the toilet? If that's a signal to you to grab him, pull his clothes down, and plunk him on the toiletseat, it's no wonder he doesn't let you know!

How about letting him manage this private business all by himself, without any further intrusion from you?

Goodwill Should be Part of Family Yule, Policeman Says

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been a police officer for over 19 years. The problem I am writing about is one I've had to deal with every year when I've pulled Christmas duty. I am talking about the Christmas eve family fight. We get more calls from neighbors to go out and settle family fights on Christmas eve than on any other night in the year, including New Year's.

You walk into a house which is gaily decorated, the tree is aglow, beautifully wrapped gifts are under the tree, and the husband and wife are throwing things at each other. The kids are crouched in the corners scared out of their wits.

About 99 per cent of the time you are able to patch things up and nobody is arrested. But the holiday has been spoiled for everyone.

I wish parents could learn to control their drinking, their tempers and their tensions so that their children might remember Christmas as a happy time instead of a nightmare when the police had to come to break up a fight between Mom and Dad. Thank you. — Officer Christmas Blues

Dear Officer: All of us are in your debt for an eloquent letter. Peace in the home and goodwill toward one another should be an integral part of family life, not only during the holiday season, but every day of the year.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A relative of Charles Darwin appeared on a radio program recently and revived an argument in our house that I hoped was dead. About five years ago my husband and I really went 'round and 'round about this and now he's at it again.

My husband has scads of literature to support the theory that man descended from the monkey. He has shown me charts and pictures of skulls which describe the evolutionary periods and I must admit that some of the first men and some of the monkeys look like they are pretty close relatives.

I am a religious person, however, Ann, and my early teachings make it impossible for me to accept this Darwin stuff. I would appreciate it if you would give me some support so I can convince him he is wrong. — Fight Renewed

Dear Renewed: Save your breath to cool your soup, Lady. You won't change your husband's mind. He'll just show you more charts.

The origin of man has been a favorite argument for ages and the scientific findings are all on his side. Considering what man has done to himself these last 50 years I think the monkeys have a right to complain.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 11-year-old son accidentally left his bicycle in the driveway which we share with the neighbors. Our garages are side by side in the back.

The woman next door is the world's rottenest driver, as well as the meanest person alive. I am sure she ran over the kid's bike just to teach him a lesson. Right after she did it she had the gall to drag the pieces of

July Wedding Date Set by Engaged Pair

The betrothal of Miss Yvonne Margaret Ellenbecker to Dennis Michael Schoen has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond N. Ellenbecker, 1425 E. Gunn St. Mr. Schoen's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leonhart C. Schoen, Carline.

The couple has chosen a July 30 wedding date.

Miss Ellenbecker is employed at Aid Association for Lutherans. Her fiancé is a student at Appleton Vocational and Adult School.

My husband says she should buy our boy a new bike. What does the law say? — Burned Aplenty

Dear Burned: I'm no lawyer, but I can tell you what I say. I say your son doesn't deserve another bike until he learns to take care of one. And it's up to his parents to teach him.

Do you feel ill at ease... out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Lady Bird to Mark Birthday Anniversary

By FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson family pauses Wednesday in the midst of Christmas preparations to observe the First Lady's 53rd birthday. Born Claudia Alta Taylor on Dec. 22, 1912, in the little town of Karnack in East Texas, she never uses the formal name her parents gave her. She's known now throughout the world by the name of Lady Bird, given her by a childhood nursemaid.

There's no formal party planned for Mrs. Johnson. As usual, the family will give her personal gifts, not usually disclosed to the public.

At 53, Mrs. Johnson is 5 feet 4, and still maintains a trim size 10 figure.

As First Lady, she presides at numerous White House social events and now devotes considerable time to the beautifying of the nation's capital and a campaign to make America more beautiful.

Last month, President and Mrs. Johnson observed their 31st wedding anniversary. The date — Nov. 17 — coincided with a formal White House dinner for Britain's visiting Princess Margaret and her husband, Lord Snowdon. President Johnson, in a champagne after-dinner toast, proclaimed he was married to "the most wonderful woman in the world."

True Partnership

Their partnership in marriage and in politics is well-known. The President frequently tells how his wife loaned him money to get started in politics, campaigns for him, and back him at every turn.

In the President's most recent personal crisis — his gall bladder operation — Mrs. Johnson moved into the hospital.

Johnson's recuperation period at the LBJ Ranch in Texas gave his wife her first long rest and respite from public duties this year.

Until then, she had traveled almost 14,000 miles and made 33 speeches in behalf of beautifica-

The Outagamie County Medical Assistants Society held its "party of the year" Wednesday evening at the Elks Club. Guests at the Christmas dinner were Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Loescher, club advisor and his wife.

erty causes.
Her press secretary, Elizabeth Carpenter, said Mrs. Johnson reported the two months at the ranch had given her "a wonderful respite with her family — to walk, think, talk with her husband, and to read."

Housewife Too

"It's hopeless to think you can escape forever from the domestic side of life," said the First Lady, "and I've spent this fall very happily working at such things as finding an antique pine table and rawhide bottom chair for a guest house, and recovering some of the living room furniture at the main house."

One day, Mrs. Johnson reports, "I indulged myself" by going to a spot in West Texas near Marathon, with daughter Lynda, 21, and an archeologist in search of pre-Columbian Indian pictographs left in caves and on ledges.

Mrs. Johnson said one of the highlights of this "wonderful day" was seeing for the first time "a coyote in the wild."

It was also on this trip that Mrs. Johnson spotted the pine tree, a Mexican pine, that she picked for the Johnsons' ranch Christmas tree this year.

Among her projects at the ranch, Mrs. Johnson has been taking particular interest in refurbishing her husband's boyhood home and birthplace and planning the Johnson library to be built on the campus of her alma mater, the University of Texas in Austin.

Raises Money

In her drive this year for a more beautiful capital, Mrs. Johnson helped raise $200,000 in donations for Washington beautification, and she made an hour-long television film to promote the cause.

She joined in innumerable ceremonies, planting trees and small shrubs and even planted 150 pounds of bluebonnet seeds around the LBJ Ranch.

Mrs. Johnson also has managed to find time to be with her college student daughters and made a recent visit to the Texas sorority house, where Lynda lives while attending the University of Texas.

In her role as mother, Mrs. Johnson had to cope this year with the romantic turns of younger daughter, Luci, 18. It is reported the President talked her into waiting awhile before becoming engaged to her boyfriend, Patrick J. Nugent, 22, of Waukegan, Ill., now on active duty with the Air National Guard.

Mrs. Johnson says there won't be any White House wedding in the near future.

MENASHA — Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Bertagnoli, 236 Edgewater Drive, have announced the engagement of their daughter Mary Kathleen to Erik O. Larsen.

The bridegroom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bror Larsen, Swarthmore, Penn.

Miss Bertagnoli is a senior at Northland College, Ashland, where she is president of Gamma Nu Omega sorority. Her fiancé, also a Northland College student, is a member of the Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity.

The wedding date has not been set.

Kenya, Ethiopia, Uganda Leaders Want Decision on Rhodesia

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) — Independent Nov. 11 after refusing to yield to British demands for steps toward eventual African majority rule.

A joint British-Zambian communique said Britain is paying for the airlift as an emergency measure until the improvement of surface routes from black-ruled neighboring states to the north.

The communique said Britain was rushing equipment to improve the existing 1,000-mile dirt road from Dar es Salaam to Zambia.

Gasoline Rationed
Zambia began rationing gasoline today.

In New York, the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, Arthur J. Goldberg, said in a television interview that American oil companies have agreed to cooperate with the embargo against Rhodesia.

President Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya, Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia and Prime Minister Milton Obote of Uganda called for an immediate conference of all 36 African heads of state.

Diallo Telli, secretary-general of the Organization of African Unity, was expected to poll other OAU members concerning a meeting.

African foreign and defense ministers voted at an OAU meeting earlier this month to break diplomatic relations with Britain by Dec. 15 unless the British had crushed the Smith regime by then.

Midshipmen Brighten Yule For Korean

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Jong Sung, an 8-year-old Korean boy, will have a brighter Christmas this year because of 114 "adopted fathers" at the U. S. Naval Academy.

Jong Sung was chosen as a foster child by members of the 19th Company of the Brigade of Midshipmen under the foster parents' plan.

A special Christmas package is going to Seoul, South Korea, including, among other things, a sewing machine to help Sung's mother supplement the meager income she now gets from selling homemade bread to support herself and four children.

The midshipmen, through translators, exchange letters with the boy, but they haven't influenced him to seek a career in the navy. He is holding out for president of Korea,

Youngsters in Los Angeles Speak No English

Leader of Chorus of Blind Chinese Orphans Critically Hurt in Accident

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Eighteen blind young singers from Hong Kong face a bleak Christmas. Their leader — who had rescued them from orphanages and refugee camps — was critically injured.

And a member of their chorus, plucked nameless as a boy from a Hong Kong street, lay near death.

The leader, Stephen Shao, 47, and the blind chorister, John Chan, now 24, were struck by a car Friday night as the group emerged from a Chinese-American church.

Shao suffered a broken hip and internal injuries. Chan had fractures of the skull and limbs. They were hospitalized.

Lost Without Leader
"The blind singers just don't know what's going to happen to them," says the Rev. Calvin Chao, head of the local Chinese For Christ, Inc., a Protestant group which helps Chinese students in the United States.

"We're taking care of the boys and girls the best we can," he said. "But they feel lost without their leader and very worried about John. They can speak only Chinese so there are few people whom they can confide in."

The minister said Shao, a musician, decided eight years ago to try to do something for the blind, hopelessly poor children of Hong Kong.

Musical Instruments
Shao taught the youngsters he gathered from alleys, orphanages and refugee camps to sing and to play, Western and Chinese musical instruments. Their repertoire ranges from classical music to popular Western and Chinese folk songs. Some compose their own music.

So skillful did Shao's Hong Kong Blind Chorus become, they were invited to tour Southeast Asia.

Through contributions, Shao got his group to the United States three months ago, hoping to book them throughout the country.

But the youths, ages 16 to 24, were so popular at their first stop, San Francisco, that they played 100 performances there in three months.

Last week, they came to Los Angeles to continue the tour.

"They were looking forward to such a wonderful Christmas," said the Rev. Mr. Chao, "their first in the United States. Now they're drifting again — just as they did when they wandered the streets."

Four Children Killed in Fire in Texas
GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Flames swept the second floor of a two-story apartment house Sunday killing the four children of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wyatt.

Firemen found the bodies of the children in a corner of one room. They said the fire apparently started from an open front gas heater.

Police said the parents were shopping at a neighborhood food store. The children were Terry 1; Elmira 2; Gene 3, and Barbara 5.

Cities Disagree With GOP Claim That Criminals Rule

'Residents Must be Told to Stay Away From Sectors,' Taft Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — Leaders of some of the nation's largest cities disagreed today with a Republican charge that zooming crime rates can be traced to a surrender to criminals by big-city political machines.

A panel of top Republicans, in a report issued Sunday night in Washington, said municipal leaders "have, in effect, confessed that criminals, not the police, lawlessness, not the law, are in control."

"Insofar as surrendering to the criminal is concerned, we've done the opposite," said a spokesman for Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh of Detroit, a political independent.

"Obviously, New York is not one of the cities they have in mind," said a spokesman for Mayor Robert F. Wagner, a Democrat who will be succeeded by a Republican Jan. 1.

No Cities Named
Those comments were typical of the reaction of officials in big cities across the country—that the Republicans must have had some city in mind other than their own. The Republican panel named no cities in the report.

The report, prepared by a coordinating committee task force headed by Robert Taft Jr., a former Ohio congressman, said in part:

"There are sectors in most of our large cities where crime is so rampant that citizens are advised to stay away. Administrators in some cities have real-estate efforts to make an adequate effort to prevent crime in these sectors."

"Urban local government has become so large, party machinery so cumbersome, federal and state controls so confusing that many people feel that their governments are no longer related to them."

Urban Machines
"We suggest that some of the present difficulties are related to the development of large urban political machines. Citizens feel no sense of loyalty to governments dominated by such machines."

Minor Wilson, chief administrative aide to Police Supt. Orlando W. Wilson of Chicago, entirely started from an open front gas heater.

Mayor Cavanagh said the city has no political machine because of its nonpartisan government. In fighting crime, he said the city has increased police salaries 26 per cent over the past four years, provided other incentives to the police and supports the force in all possible respects.

Accelerated Drive
In Boston, Mayor John F. Collins, a Democrat, said: "I have to disagree as far as Boston is concerned. Far from surrendering, we have accelerated our drive against organized crime."

A spokesman for Mayor Samuel W. Yorty of Los Angeles said there are no areas in Los Angeles where citizens are advised to stay away because of lawlessness. He said the city is doing the best job possible with 5,000 policemen in a city of 459 square miles.

A spokesman for Mayor John F. Shelley of San Francisco, a Democrat, pointed out that the city's charter makes its offices nonpartisan.

"With our form of city government here, with the mayor working with a board of supervisors representing both parties, I don't think the statement applies to us," he said.

Lakes Area Covered by Snow Fall
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Snow was blanketing much of the Great Lakes region today, while from northeastern Ohio to Vermont flurries were slowly ending after considerable accumulations were deposited in upper New York State.

Hardest hit by the snowfall Sunday were the Adirondack foothills. The hamlet of Highmarket reported 25 inches and other cities in the snow belt received from 12 to 15 inches.

Because few roads cross this part of New York State, no major problems resulted from the excessive snowfall.

As for the upper Midwest, a slick coat of new snow covered most sections today from northern Illinois through Minnesota.

In the far South, generous rains were bathing much of Florida. Orlando reported more than an inch.

Almost every Florida city north of Miami was receiving rain, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau.

South of Miami, skies were clear and temperatures were in the 70s today.

Low temperatures continued in the far West. Much of eastern Nevada was experiencing its fifth day of below-zero readings.

Morning temperatures ranged from 5 below zero at Millinocket, Maine, to 78 at Key West, Fla.

Gerald Eyer, superintendent of the Sauk Prairie school system, made the damage estimate and said the fire apparently originated on the first floor. He blamed either defective wiring or spontaneous combustion.

The wooden interior of the building, built in 1915, was consumed "like a matchbox," said one official.

There were no injuries reported.

Firemen were summoned from Prairie du Sac, Sauk City and Baraboo. They battled for three hours to bring the flames under control and keep sparks from igniting nearby rooftops.

A brisk wind carried the sparks as far as three blocks, authorities said.

Grave's Disease Form Of Hyperthyroidism

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is Grave's disease? Has a cure been found for it? — R.F.

Dear Doctor: About five years ago I had an operation for an overactive thyroid, and part of the gland was removed. Now I am having the same trouble. Is it possible for the thyroid to act up again? — Mrs. R.B.

Grave's disease is a severe form of hyperthyroidism (overactive thyroid). It features such symptoms as rapid heart beat, nervousness, prominence of the eyeballs.

treatment. The method depends on age and other factors. In some instances antithyroid drugs slow down the gland's activity to a suitable rate. In other cases radioactive iodine does the job. In still others, surgical removal of part of the gland is preferable.

It is possible in some cases for the remaining portion of the thyroid gland to become overactive, although this is not by any means the usual experience. When this occurs, further surgery or one of the other methods is in order.

Dear Dr. Molner: Enclosed are 20 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for your booklet, "The Way to Stop Constipation." Does drinking about three glasses of cold milk a day harm the stomach? — V.K.

The booklet is on its way, and there are several ways of combating constipation, as you'll see. No, I can't see how harm you unless (and this is rare) you happen to be allergic to it. And if you customarily drink that much milk, we can be confident that you aren't.

Dear Dr. Molner: Two of my children are in the hospital with histoplasmosis. They both had pneumonia.

Our doctor called a lung specialist because one of the children was slow in responding to treatment.

I don't believe in changing horses in the middle of the stream but I can't get my family off my back. They seem to think I should change doctors and take the children to another hospital.

Our doctor told us this is a fungus infection and hard to get rid of, and he doesn't want to release the children from the hospital until they are out of danger. — Mrs. I.N.

Your doctor is obviously "on the ball." Histoplasmosis is a fungus which invades the lungs. There is, as yet, very little direct treatment for it. The important thing is to give the patient rest and be alert for any complications, so as to stop them before they become serious.

Years ago histoplasmosis was considered a rare but deadly disease, because only the severe cases were recognized as being that.

Today we know it is not rare, but is often mistaken (unless known tests are used) for "flu," bronchitis, and tuberculosis. More severe cases become "pneumonia," because pneumonia isn't one disease. It is several diseases, varying according to the kind of bacteria, virus, fungus or other organism which is the cause. So histoplasmosis is a fungus type.

When you have a doctor with the know-how to recognize this disease, and has had a specialist confirm it, and is obviously being wisely careful to keep the children hospitalized until they are cured, I'd most certainly be thankful. Politely ignore the relatives who want you to change doctor or hospital.

DON'T EXPECT TOO MUCH OF CHILDREN! RIGHT □ WRONG □

Right. When you expect too much of little children, you discourage them not only from trying but also from feeling that they are capable of accomplishing what they should. Parents and teachers are wise to expect of their children what they are reasonably sure they can do without having to push further just then. Not expecting enough of children is boring. Expecting too much is defeating. One of the things a well-trained teacher learns is just how much or how little to expect of a particular child at a given time.

Parental expectations are outlined in specific detail in the frank booklet, "What Should Parents Expect from Children?" To get a copy, send 25 cents and your name and address (including ZIP Code) to this column, in care of The Post-Crescent, Appleton, Wis., 54910.

Student Council at St. John Anghered By Faculty Dismissals

NEW YORK (AP). — St. John's University's 16-member Student Council has expressed "extreme displeasure" at the dismissal of 28 faculty members.

The council voted to send representatives to meet with the administration to seek "substantial and satisfactory answers to questions concerned with faculty firing and non-renewal of faculty contracts."

Also sought by the council is an accounting of "specific measures that have and will be taken to insure the integrity of student academic standing."

The Student Council, by votes of 15-0, with one abstention, approved a series of resolutions at an emergency meeting Sunday night dealing with the crisis at the nation's largest Roman Catholic university.

Another special meeting has been called for tonight to consider possible student action. One question is whether to support a teachers' strike threatened for Jan. 3.

Most of the dismissed faculty members belong to the United Federation of College Teachers, AFL-CIO, union that has led a 10-month fight against the administration for greater academic freedom, higher salaries and larger voice in university policies.

4th Candidate Takes Papers In Mayor Race

Edwin N. Petersen, 826 1/2 W. Fourth St., Plans Campaign

A four-way contest for the Appleton mayoralty election in the spring developed today with the announcement by 46-year-old Edwin N. Petersen that he would seek the post.

Petersen, 826 1/2 W. Fourth St., is presently unemployed but previously worked for the Conway Hotel for 11 years.

Petersen, who said he is somewhat visually handicapped, applied for his nomination papers at the city clerk's office shortly after 10 a.m. but will not start circulating them until Tuesday.

A native of North Dakota, Petersen came here with his parents and has resided in the Neenah-Menasha and Appleton area the last 44 years.

Ran in Neenah
At one time Petersen ran for alderman in Neenah and lost out by four votes, he said, adding that it was quite a few years ago.

Before joining the staff at the Conway, Petersen said he worked at other Valley hotels.

Mr. and Mrs. Petersen, who have a 5 1/2 year old son, have lived in Appleton since 1945.

He is a graduate of Menasha High School.

Petersen has three other candidates for company in the primary election next March.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell, 49, announced previously he would be seeking his fifth two-year term as the city's chief executive.

Also circulating nomination papers are: Albert G. Gerhardt, 53, 1221 E. Fremont St. and George F. Hennessey, 57, 1534 E. Wisconsin Ave.

The mayor's job now pays $13,000 annually but the salary will be increased to $14,000 in 1965 and $15,000 in 1966.

The plane, another nine-passenger DeHavilland Dove, arrived last week and is being used for second sections on busy flights.

Flight schedule changes involve new departure times for southbound flights 3 and 5, Flight 3, which formerly left Appleton at 10:20 a.m., will now leave at 11:50 a.m. and arrive at O'Hare at 12:59 p.m.

Afternoon Flight 5 will leave at 3 p.m., instead of 3:10 p.m., and will arrive at O'Hare at 4:09 p.m. The other two southbound flight times are unchanged, at 7 a.m. and 8:30 p.m.

Stray Bullet Cuts 12,000 Volt Wire

Babysitter Fires Shot in Dark, Blacks Out Town Poygan Area

OMRO — A frightened babysitter late Saturday night fired a rifle bullet through a doorway at what she thought were prowlers and hit an electric wire across the road, plunging 410 Town of Poygan residents into three hours of darkness.

Winnebago County sheriff authorities said Patricia Nelson, 15, of Oshkosh, sitting at the home of her brother, Jerry, in the Town of Poygan, fired the rifle when she heard noises at the door about 10:45 p.m. Saturday.

Miss Nelson told authorities she saw sparks across the road shortly after the lights in the home went out.

Service Restored
Wisconsin Power and Light Co. repair crews were called to the area and service was restored shortly after 2 a.m.

Power company crews said the bullet from the rifle had severed a 12,000 volt wire.

Miss Nelson told authorities her brother had loaded the high-powered rifle Saturday night and told her to use it in case of prowlers. He had told her prowlers had been reported in the area recently.

Talking on Phone
Later, Miss Nelson was talking on the telephone when she heard noises. She put down the telephone and fired the rifle through the door. Seconds later the light went out and the rural western half of Winnebago County was plunged into darkness.

Authorities checked the area surrounding the Nelson home on County Trunk D and found no evidence of prowlers. Several persons found in the area were attempting to discover the cause of the blackout, authorities said.

Driver Must Post Bonds Totaling $650

A total of $650 in bonds was ordered this morning for Daniel R. Wegner, 24, 5207 S. 27th St., Milwaukee, who pleaded innocent to three traffic charges that followed a high speed chase Saturday night by a state highway patrolman.

The man was charged with speeding, 120 miles an hour in a 55 m.p.h. zone, fleeing from a traffic officer using a marked car and operating a motor vehicle after revocation of driver's license.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller ordered bond of $150 on the speeding charge and $250 each on the other two counts. Wegner had not posted bond late this morning. Trial was set for April 6.

The state patrolman said Wegner's car was chased from County Trunk U to County Trunk N on U.S. 41 shortly after 9 p.m. Saturday.

Beaver Dam Woman Cashes Bad Check in Wrong Place

Miss Sandra Kolitz, 23, Beaver Dam, picked the wrong place to cash a bad check.

Miss Kolitz was arrested Sept. 22 by a state highway patrolman for speeding 100 miles an hour in a 55 mile per hour zone on U.S. 41 in the Town of Grand Chute.

She pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs or 48 days in jail in addition to having her driver's license revoked for three months.

Miss Kolitz wrote a $100 check payable to the Outagamie County clerk of courts office to cover the fine and costs. The check later came back because of insufficient funds. Officials said Miss Kolitz was given ample opportunity to make good on the check, and they finally referred the matter to Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer.

Schaefer made out a warrant and had the woman brought from Beaver Dam for a court appearance this morning.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller ordered a fine of $100 and costs or 48 days in jail. Miss Kolitz is being held in lieu of posting bond.

The court's offices now have instituted a firm policy of not allowing payment of any fines by checks.

The accident occurred near Ballard Road shortly after 5 p.m.

The drivers of the two cars will be among those scheduled for questioning by Kemps and Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer.

Reorganization of Valley Planning Group Advised

Hope for White Christmas

Residents View 1st Snowfall In Valley in Various Ways

There are different ways to view the snowfall which fell over the Fox River Valley Sunday night and early today.

For the very young, it meant that, if it lasts, there may be some snow for sledding come Christmas vacation later this week.

For the spirited, it promised a white Christmas.

For those who worked Sunday night or early this morning, plowing and sanding the icy intersections in Valley counties, it showed that winter, which doesn't officially arrive until tomorrow, had at least put in a token appearance.

Wrinkled Fender
For the motorist, in some cases, it meant viewing the snowfall around a wrinkled fender or from the rear of a slow-moving traffic lane.

Only about 1.5 inches of snow fell in Calumet, Winnebago and Outagamie counties, but it was enough to call several dozens of workmen in heavy equipment to the intersections and overpasses to lay salt and clear the few drifts.

Traffic police reported only minor accidents, routine for a Sunday night and Monday morning. Appleton police said there were five accidents and traffic was "cautious" this morning with no tie-ups.

Although the snowfall was the first recorded in the Valley, spokesmen for several highway agencies said that emergency crews had been called on at least one other occasion this winter season when roads became slippery with ice.

Slush on Roads
All Wisconsin roads were covered with slush and slippery stretches today, following the overnight fall. The State Highway Department said frequent slippery spots were reported late in the day on secondary roads.

Driving conditions improved, however, throughout the day with rising temperatures and more maintenance crews reporting for work.

Hazardous driving warnings were posted for the southeastern part of the state this morning. Eau Claire and Pewaukee reported as much as three inches of snow and two inches were reported in scattered areas throughout the southern half of the state.

$18,000 Remains
If Appleton doesn't get hit by a major snowstorm within the next 10 days it will reap the benefit of an $18,000 surplus in the ice-snow control budget.

"I knock on wood everytime someone mentions snow," commented Assistant Public Works Director Donald C. Bengts today.

The overnight snow made it necessary to call out sanding and salting crews but no major equipment.

Some small sidewalk plows were in operation but that was the extent of today's snow removal operation.

Of the $75,299 budgeted for ice-snow control in 1965, slightly more than $56,000 has been expended to date.

Valley Jobs Plentiful

Manpower Shortage Threatens Police Staff

The flood of job availabilities throughout the Fox Valley is making it difficult for the Appleton Police Department to hire four additional men.

"We've been advertising locally and in other parts of the state but have had only two inquiries," Police Chief Earl O. Wolff said today.

The council authorized an increase of four men to the force as of Jan. 1, 1966 to boost its strength to 74.

Wolff said another vacancy will occur Jan. 1 due to a resignation, making five positions to be filled.

Salary Range
New policemen get $413.25 the first six months and then step into the salary range from $435 to $515 per month.

Qualifications for becoming a member of the Appleton Police Department call for the applicant to be over 21, at least 5 feet, 10 inches tall with proportionate weight, excellent health and a high school diploma or military equivalent certificate.

Filing of bankruptcy papers by the Tomahawk Paper Co., Inc., Tomahawk, Wis., has created confusion for the Tomahawk Power and Pulp Co., a 50-year-old Appleton based firm which is not involved in the closing of the tissue mill.

"We would like our customers and friends to know that our operations are profitable and that we are continuing in business," said William Shockley of Appleton, general manager of the Tomahawk Power and Pulp Co.

Tomahawk Power and Pulp Co. operates a groundwood pulp mill at Tomahawk and has no connection with the firm that ended operations two weeks ago.

D. C. Murchison of Elizabeth, N. J., is president of the firm. The company was sold to the present owners three years ago by Kenneth S. Dickinson.

Two Boys Seen
Two boys were seen crossing the ice on the river near the fire scene shortly before the alarm sounded.

About 5 p.m. Saturday a small fire was noted in the same area but it was extinguished by a fireman at the plant. Three youths were seen running from this area when the fire was discovered.

Investigation revealed about 50 books of paper matches, a can of lighter fluid, three empty shotgun shells and a can of paint at the scene.

State Fire Marshall Earl Schwabe is investigating the blaze along with William Haupt, fire chief, and Police Chief Harold Engerson.

Little Chute Police Investigate Complaint On Stolen Vehicle
LITTLE CHUTE — Police are investigating the complaint of Richard Kilsdonk, 1019 N. Jefferson St., that his car was stolen sometime Sunday evening.

Kilsdonk told police he did not realize his car, which had been left in the driveway with the keys in the ignition, was missing until about 9:45 p.m. when he saw someone driving into the driveway. He looked out and saw two youths in his car; they saw him at the same time, backed out of the driveway and left.

The vehicle was found parked near the village garage on Madison Street shortly after Kilsdonk called police.

Menasha Boy Credited With Saving 8-Year-Old Girl Skater
A rural Menasha boy who jumped into chilly waters in Lake Winnebago Saturday, is credited with saving the life of an 8-year-old ice skater who had fallen through the ice.

Daniel Schaumann, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schaumann, route 1, Menasha, pushed Ann Ainsworth, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ainsworth, route 1, Menasha, out of the water, then scrambled to safety himself about 4 p.m. Saturday, Mrs. Ainsworth said.

When Ann fell in up to her shoulders, she called for help. Daniel ran to where the girl had fallen, jumped in the water and pushed her out ahead of him. He then managed to pull himself from the water.

Both children were reported all right today, suffering only minor colds.

Need Move To Get Direct Federal Aid

Reorganization under the Wisconsin Regional Planning Law has been urged for the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission by federal authorities.

The latest stumbling block for the group came in a letter from A. Dean Swartzel, regional director for the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development, Chicago, to Eugene Franchetti, the commission's executive director.

Swartzel said that in order to use federal funds, the commission should be created according to an enabling act which contains provision explicitly authorizing the commission to borrow and use federal funds.

In the federal agency's opinion, such provisions for regional planning are only authorized under State Statute 66.945, the state regional planning law.

Cooperation Statute
The planning commission was organized under the local cooperation statute, 66.30, which allows for cooperation between cities, villages, towns and counties for the joint exercise of their individual powers.

The agency's advice was in answer to a request by the commission to review the state law under which the commission is organized and a recently proposed revision of the articles of agreement.

In order to reorganize, the commission would be required to submit a petition to the governor, who would review the petition. If it is in order, the governor would issue an executive order reconstituting the commission.

"Soon as Possible"
Franchetti said he would bring the matter before the commission's policy committee as soon as possible.

He said if the commission wishes to be recognized as an official planning commission, it should take steps to reorganize under the state regional planning law as soon as possible.

The letter from the federal agency said the finding would not affect comprehensive planning and open space acquisition and development carried out by the planning commission.

Swartzel said that if the open space requirements previously set forth have been met, the planning and programming would be acceptable for federal aid to member municipalities.

Through State Unit
Franchetti said the commission would have to apply through the State Department of Resource Development for federal planning grants until the commission is reorganized.

The first indication the planning commission was not recognized.

Pizza-Eating Parrot Found In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Crickets, the pizza-eating parrot, has come home under protest and, for once, is speechless.

The Mexican yellowhead was recaptured Sunday 11 days after he fled his coop at the Robert B. Laughlin home and taunted firemen and other would-be rescuers who tried for two days to retrieve him from a high-tension wire.

"He looks tired and scared," said Mrs. Laughlin Sunday night, "but otherwise appears to be okay. He isn't talking yet."

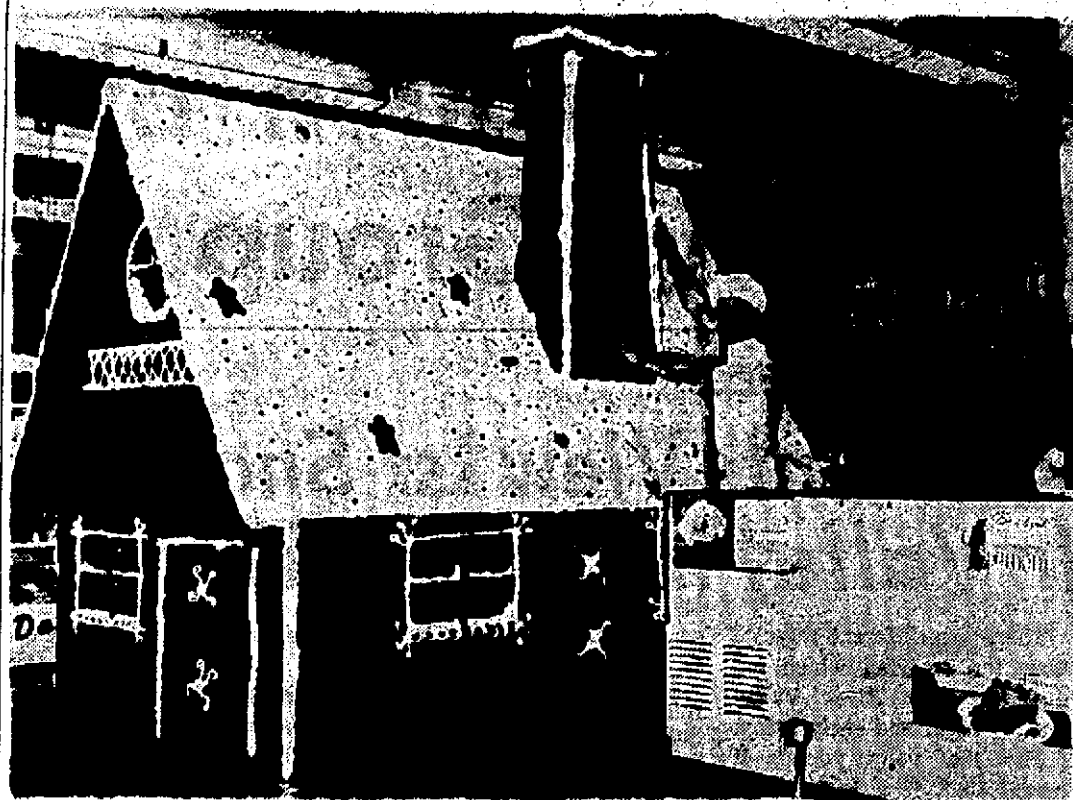

A more chipper Crickets had even shunned pizza waved under the wires by Mrs. Laughlin before he disappeared from his perch in heavy fog Dec. 9.

Three youths hunting rabbits with bows and arrows sighted the 16-year-old parrot in an orchard Sunday and returned later to find him on the ground.

Crickets had to satisfy himself with sunflower seed for his homecoming meal, but Mrs. Laughlin said he would be allowed to return to his regular diet today — half a cheese and sausage pizza daily.

Halves Still Problem

Coin Shortage Eased With Issuance of 'Sandwich Silver'

NEENAH - MENASHA — The shortage of coins which held up many a gift buying transaction last Christmas season has not been as bothersome this year, several merchants and bankers in the Twin Cities report.

The shortage problem seems to reside in the scarcity of 50-cent pieces. Cy Van Vreede of the Menasha Hardware summed up the situation of most merchants saying he does not ask for halves when getting change at the bank.

Reports that halves were being called in by the government were dispelled by Mrs. Richard Anderson of Anderson Coin and Novelty store in Menasha. Mr. Anderson said the shortage of coins has lessened and that with the new issue of copper filled coins, the shortage could no longer pose a problem. He explained that when the new coins are fully circulated there will be no problem at all.

Not Needed

A waitress at the Kresge store, Fox Point, said she is always surprised to see quite a self with sunflower seed for his homecoming meal, but Mrs. Laughlin said he would be allowed to return to his regular diet today — half a cheese and sausage pizza daily.

quarters serve the purpose and that halves are not necessarily needed — only convenient.

Erv Wanserski, Menasha merchant and coin buff, explained that the federal government plans to circulate about 70 million halves in February. If this report is true, he added that the shortage would be cleared up within a week.

The only local recipients of coins from the Federal Reserve banks are the national banks. Officials at the First National Bank of Neenah explained they receive a small monthly ration which hardly serves the community. They hope to have this situation alleviated during the first months of the next year when the government issues the new 'sandwich' (copper filled) coins currently being minted.

Taking stock of the coins collected by News-Record reporters Saturday, to illustrate the shortage situation, it was discovered that out of $865 in coin only $40 was in halves while $620 was in quarters. Dimes were next, totaling $175.

Downtown Revitalization

Aldermen to Discuss Planning for Menasha

MENASHA — When the common council meets at the committee of the whole meeting tonight, it will discuss the important first action to be taken in setting up a far-reaching program to revitalize downtown Menasha.

Members of the New Menasha committee will be on hand to ask the council to establish a redevelopment authority, which eventually would have semi-autonomous powers and responsibilities to control development in a designated downtown area.

There are two major council decisions in creating an authority. First the council must vote to set up the authority. It would be headed by seven-man commission, appointed by the mayor and confirmed by a four-fifths vote of the council.

Formal action is expected on this decision at the regular council meeting Tuesday.

The second major council step would be to designate the specific area scheduled for development. Mayor John Klein said today this decision should probably be made at a later date.

Both decisions must be approved by a two-thirds vote of the council.

The seven-man New Menasha committee has been working since last June on projects to refurbish the downtown core, and now wants to put the loop's growth schedule on a more formal basis.

Save on Taxes

Their reason for asking for creation of the authority at this point is taxes. Any money contributed to the authority before the first of the year can be deducted from this year's income, either by a corporation or an individual.

If the council creates authority, the first step of the commission would be to hire a consultant firm to draw a comprehensive plan for the city. Earlier plans are felt to be inadequate by committee members.

The funds for the planning work are expected to come from a variety of sources: private donations by individuals, funds from Menasha corporations, possibly federal planning funds on a two-thirds basis and possibly an allocation from the city to the authority.

Completion Time

The plan would take 18 months to complete from the date of application for federal 701 planning funds.

Members of the New Menasha committee, which is headed by Mowry Smith, Jr., president of Menasha Woodware Co., and city officials have studied the redevelopment concept at some length with Racine as its specific case study.

Racine has created a redevelopment authority with powers to redo four downtown blocks, and the committee made a day-long study trip to that city to examine the steps taken there to set it up.

Other cities in the area are also taking sweeping planning steps to more future growth. Green Bay is the farthest along, with four blocks scheduled for renewal. Appleton has completed its comprehensive plan using federal planning monies. Kaukauna is now preparing a request for federal planning funds.

Yule Music Confection Well Given

The Xavier music department served up a Christmas confection Sunday evening, well prepared and well presented.

One has come to expect musical mastery and good taste from Francis Scholtz, and one is never disappointed. Each instrumentalist obviously understood his importance to the whole, and the result was smooth performances from each ensemble. Even the Prep Band demonstrated Scholtz's careful training which will insure Xavier's share of prize-winning groups in the future.

The audience and student response to Zi Hyung Sa, the choral director, left no doubt as to the esteem in which he is held. The fine boys sections and the youthful enthusiasm of all the singers made one wish they had presented a Bach or Praetorius chorus. As it was, the lighter numbers of the girls chorus, the Xavier Singers, and the Parents Chorus were delivered with charm and grace.

A most pleasant evening was capped by the impressive combined chorus, whose last group of carols, accompanied by the concert band, were truly lovely.

What better way is there to celebrate the season than to make music together? Everyone present at the concert left with a feeling of having shared in such a celebration.

Same Car Stolen By Jail Breakers

RUPERT, Idaho (AP) — Melvin Madsen, who lives a few blocks from the Minidoka County jail, is getting tired of jail breaks.

Saturday night he returned from Craig, Colo., where he had retrieved his car, stolen after prisoners escaped from the jail last Monday.

Two of the same prisoners returned from Craig Wednesday escaped again early Sunday.

Guess whose car they took?

Police told Madsen he could pick up his car in nearby Hazelton.

Chinese Nationalists To Build Atomic Power Plant in Formosa

TAIPEI (AP) — The Chinese Nationalist government will build an atomic power plant in Formosa before 1974 to meet the growing demands of industry, says Minister of Economic Affairs K. T. Li.

Li said the projected atomic plant would boost power generation in Formosa by 500,000 kilowatts.

In addition, Li said two thermal plants are to be completed by 1970, each with a generating capacity of 300,000 kilowatts.

Market Falling, Trading Light

Aerospace Defense Stocks First to Show Sharp Loss

NEW YORK (AP) — Losses deepened in a declining stock market early this afternoon but trading was relatively slack.

Aerospace defense stocks were the first group to show sharp losses as they reacted to uncertainty about the reported Viet Nam peace feelers.

Electronics, most of whom are defense-related, followed along. Airlines, electrical equipments and oils also showed some sharp losses.

Steels were higher in early trading but they erased most of their gains and began to ease. Autos were down from the start. Some losses worsened in the group.

Rails held fairly steady after trimming early advances.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.0 at 355.2 with industrials off 2.1, rails unchanged and utilities off .3.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 4.40 at 953.45.

As the defense stocks weakened, Boeing extended its loss to more than 2. Losses of 1½ or so were shown by General Dynamics, United and Douglas Aircraft.

Among electronics, Fairchild

Camera skidded more than 4 points.

American Telephone, off a fraction, touched another new low for the year. General Motors lost 1 point. Du Pont held most of a 1-point gain and Eastman Kodak remained fractionally higher.

Xerox dropped 4 and Polaroid 3.

Yes, Virginia, Spirit of Santa Still Continues

Two months ago Virginia O'Hanlon Douglas, 76, fled the burning home she shared with her daughter, Mrs. Robert Temple, and her family.

They were sheltered first by neighbors, then by relatives. Finally, a couple offered the rental of a handsomely restored old farmhouse.

As an 8-year-old, Virginia O'Hanlon wrote to the New York Sun, asking for the truth about Santa Claus.

In an editorial Francis P. Church replied: "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist."

"We have really experienced the spirit of that editorial," said Mrs. Douglas. "We know that love and generosity exists."

Girls Protest School Pickets

MARION — The lonely, and empty new elementary school here, which has witnessed a single picket's protest against non-union help on the construction site, saw another protest this weekend, this time from the school children who have yet to use her shiny classrooms.

Two young pickets, both girls, carried signs near the lone picket who has been protesting non-union work on the school site and has forced a halt in the construction.

Braving the wind and chill, the girls asked "Mr. Big Union Boss: 'Please let us have our school.'"

Santa's Aid Asked
Another sign carried by a small girl has requested

"Dear Santa. Help Us." The protest was signed by "Marion School Children."

The "pickets" were Karen Lorrig, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lorrig, and Patti Sether, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Sether, both of Marion.

If the school would not have been involved in the labor dispute, both children would have attended classes in the building sometime after the first of the year.

Workers Walk Off
Several weeks ago, labor officials began protesting the hiring of non-union workers in the building which had been nearing completion, causing several workers to walk off the job.

A spokesman for the Kucksdorf Construction Co. has stated that since work began one year ago on the building, he has never been contacted by union representatives in regards to signing up workers. He said the men on the job preferred to remain non-union.

Unionized electricians and plumbers from Appleton and Green Bay were working in the building when the pickets appeared. They honored the protest and refused to continue work on the project.

May Damage Building
Now, according to spokesmen, the lack of heat in the building and the incomplete heating system not only delays completion of the building, but threatens to damage the building due to freezing conditions.

The school building was planned and began because of need for added classrooms in the Marion school system. Some grade school children are using classrooms established on a temporary basis in the city hall building.

Parents of school children say they can not understand the labor situation. They add they constantly remind themselves that the workmen who left the job are not "on strike" but are engaged in a form of boycott in order to force union membership.

nized by the federal government as an official planning agency came in 1964 when the commission made an initial application for a direct planning grant and was refused.

No steps were taken to correct the problem at that time since the federal Housing and Home Finance Agency (now a part of the new federal department) agreed to make the grant if it were channeled through the state.

When Franchett requested an opinion from the State Department of Resource Development on the proposed revised articles of agreement, he was told the state would be willing to continue serving as the liaison agency between the commission and the federal government.

Amendment Passed

Last summer the commission convinced the state legislature to pass an amendment to the local cooperation act authorizing member municipalities of the commission to enter into joint contracts for the purpose of financing and carrying out projects involving more than one municipality and/or county.

The commission, which was officially formed in 1956, has completed the necessary groundwork for various projects and is ready to begin implementation of the tri-county expressway system project and open space acquisition and development.

Franchett viewed the new situation philosophically, saying "It just means more work."

Plans Commission Studies Zoning Law

Appleton Group to Schedule Hearings For Public After Completion of Review

The Appleton Plan Commission held the second in a series of study meetings today to review the proposed new zoning district ordinance before scheduling public hearings on it.

The ordinance was prepared as a part of the city's comprehensive plan by the St. Louis firm of Harland Bartholomew and Associates.

While the zoning ordinance has received preliminary approval from the plan commission, the latter has scheduled five study meetings to review the entire document before recommending it to the city council for final okay.

Included in the zoning ordinance, which does not represent a radical departure from some existing zoning areas, are: one-family, two-family residential, apartment residential, local commercial, general commercial, central business district, planned commercial, light industrial, heavy industrial and planned industrial districts.

Nelson Hails Stop in Sales Of 2-Ply Tires

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., hailed as "extremely significant" Sunday night a report that one of the nation's largest sellers of replacement tires had stopped marketing 2-ply tires.

Nelson, author of a bill to establish national standards in tire safety, has criticized 2-ply rated tires as hazardous to extended driving. He has said they are widely used as substitutes for 4-ply tires previously supplied on all new automobiles.

Nelson announced he was advised that Sears Roebuck and Co. had decided to halt 2-ply tire sales and shift to marketing only 4-ply tires. He asked that company officials be invited to testify at further hearings by the Senate Commerce Committee next year.

Meal for Servicemen

Christmas Menu Starts With Tons of Turkeys

By FRANK S. JOSEPH
CHICAGO (AP) — Marion Bollman's Christmas menu includes 400,000 pounds of turkey. The meal she dreamed up 18 months ago will feed half a million persons. But it will cost only about $680,000.

U.S. soldiers and airmen in Saigon, South Viet Nam, and other duty spots should enjoy it. That's because it includes what Miss Bollman, 47, the U.S. Army Subsistence Center's dietitian in charge of menu planning, calls:

"The usual things — shrimp cocktail, turkey with giblet gravy, corn bread dressing, mashed potatoes, candied sweet potatoes, hot rolls, green beans, mincemeat and pumpkin pies, relish, mixed nuts, assorted fruits, assorted candies and fruit cake."

Familiar Meals
Miss Bollman, who has been making up Army and Air Force menus for six years, said in an interview that the most important thing is to give the troops the holiday meal they are accustomed to.

"We try to keep it pretty traditional," she said. She says that it costs only about $1.36 a meal to get the estimated three million pounds of Christmas food into Army and Air Force mess halls around the world.

Miss Bollman said that the master menu, which she begins preparing 18 months in advance, is now being used by the Army everywhere except in Europe and by all Air Force installations in the United States. She estimates her Christmas meals will fill half a million GIs.

It wasn't always that way. But, she said, every year more and more overseas commands adopted the master menu until now, every Army installation in the Pacific is using it — including those in Viet Nam.

How does she decide what the troops want?

"Feedback," she says. She explains that every department that uses the menu sends back their criticisms of it. That's why this year's Christmas menu will have one new item — corn bread dressing — and an increase in the fresh fruit allotment.

The troops say they want it.

Lovell Invited To Milwaukee

Spaceman May Go To Childhood Home After Christmas

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Astronaut James A. Lovell may not be home for Christmas, but Milwaukee officials hope the Gemini 7 spaceman will be able to make a visit next year to the city where he grew up.

Space officials at Houston, Tex., said Saturday no decision on any visits for Lovell and fellow astronaut Frank Borman will be made until at least the week after Christmas.

The two astronauts who spent a record 14 days in space will spend nearly as many more days in debriefing sessions with scientists, although they will be permitted to return home at night.

Lovell and his wife, the former Marilyn Gerlach of Milwaukee, live near Houston.

Mrs. Lovell is expecting the couple's fourth child this month.

"Like to See Him"

"We'd like to see him and Marilyn very much," said the astronaut's mother-in-law, Mrs. Carl F. Gerlach of Milwaukee, Saturday.

Lovell wrote to a classmate in his graduating class at Milwaukee's Solomon Juneau High School before the flight that he hoped to return here to visit friends after the space mission.

Milwaukee Mayor Henry Maier extended a formal invitation last week and his chief administrator, James C. Newcomb said he was informed by space officials. He said details of the celebration would not be arranged until after approval was granted.

Lovell, a native of Cleveland, moved to Milwaukee with his widowed mother when he was 10. The Navy lieutenant commander, now 37, built experimental rockets as a hobby while in high school and later studied engineering at the University of Wisconsin.

Thilmany Adds 60 Cents Per $1 To Member Fund

KAUKAUNA — C. L. Dostal, president of the Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co., has notified participants in the Thilmany Employees Association, a company contribution to the members' Fund of 60 cents for each dollar invested by the member this year.

This is the second straight year the company contribution has been 60 cents per dollar, 35 cents greater than the regular 25 cent company contribution. Employees saving at the maximum rate of 5 per cent of their earnings realize an additional 3 per cent in annual earnings as a result of the company contribution, noted the president.

The members' fund provides an addition to a workers' total retirement income or extra resources in the event of death or disability or serious financial need. Employees desiring to change their contribution percentage in the fund must do so before the last day of 1965.

Jim Grabowski Signed by Packers

CHICAGO — The Packers have landed Jim Grabowski. Signing of the Packers No. 1 draft choice and the first player chosen in the American Football League was announced with plenty of fanfare at a press, radio and television conference at the Drake Hotel at noon today by Coach Vince Lombardi.

Grabowski ranks as the Packers' next Jim Taylor. The Illinois fullback stands 6-3 and packs 219 pounds.

Chosen No. 1 by the Miami Dolphins, who received the first pick in the AFL draft, Grabowski was formally introduced as a Packer to members of the Midwest media.

Grabowski, a power runner on the order of Taylor, broke Red Grange's rushing records at Illinois and established new Big Ten rushing marks.

He is the first Packer first choice signed in two years. The top choice last year, Larry Elkins of Baylor, wound up with Houston. Tackle Lloyd Voss of Nebraska, was signed two years ago as No. 1.

The signing means that Lombardi has one-half of a potential Taylor-Horning backfield in the sack. The "Paul Hornung" is Donnie Anderson who was chosen as a future a year ago announced on Grabowski — a standard Packer policy.

Lombardi stopped here early today enroute back from San Francisco where the Packers played a tie with the 49ers.

Due to a late start out of San Francisco, what with traffic delays coming from Kezar stadium, the Packers' jet was more than an hour and a half late getting into O'Hare field at 1 a.m. The team then boarded a United Airlines charter for Green Bay.

As if the tie wasn't bad enough, a swirling snow greeted the Packers upon arrival in the windy city. It was sunny and 55 during the game.

The Packers were docile on the jet ride home. . . and everybody felt the same about the game.

Voss said it for all hands — "the way the game was going the tie looked pretty good up there. We have another chance

Shula Says Matte Will Be Starter at Green Bay Sunday

By GORDON BEARD

BALTIMORE (AP) — Given up for dead a week ago, the Baltimore Colts suddenly find themselves with a chance to win their second consecutive Western Conference title in the National Football League.

Shula said after watching them tie Green Bay on closed circuit television at a local studio. "They gave it everything they had, and aside from a couple of fumbles, they could have won."

Shula, many of his players and their wives, and former Colts such as Gino Marchetti and Art Donovan watched the broadcast. They showed as much enthusiasm as raucous Colt spectators in the stands.

San Francisco End Verne Burke falls into the end zone with a pass from quarterback John Brodie, that with the conversion by Tommy Davis, gave the 49ers a 24-24 tie with the Green Bay Packers in Kezar Stadium Sunday. The 27-yard toss came in the last two minutes of the game and forced the Packers into a playoff game with Baltimore for the Western Division crown. (AP Wirephoto)

Janssen, Shaw Both Hit 24 Springs Quint Scores 60-58 Victory Over St. John in Thriller

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
LITTLE CHUTE — Clutch free throw shooting by the Ledgers of St. Mary Springs, Fond du Lac, resulted in a 60-58 basketball victory over Little Chute St. John in a Fox Valley Catholic Conference thriller here Sunday night.

The victory boosted Springs to a 2-2 conference record, while the Chutes now have a 1-3 mark.

It was a spine-tingler all the way, with the score tied on six occasions and the lead changed hands five times, four in the second half.

Coach Bill Fitzpatrick's Dutchmen scored the first eight

BY ART DALEY
Post-Crescent News Service

SAN FRANCISCO — Everybody knows it's tough to win the championship. . . but this is ridiculous.

The Green Bay Packers were within two minutes of their fourth Western division title in six years in Kezar stadium before 45,710 fans Sunday. . . but they blew a 24-17 lead and had to settle for a 24-24 tie.

Now the Packers are 60 minutes removed from this elusive championship — just as they were before they kicked off to the eager 49ers.

That last 60 minutes of this never-ending season will be played in Lambeau field next Sunday in a division playoff — Green Bay's first since the Bear-Packer playoff in 1941.

Green Bay must whip the gallant Colts who were the beneficiaries of the Packers' stunning knot. The Colts gained life by virtue of their amazing win over the Rams in Los Angeles Saturday. The Packers and the Colts finished the regulation season with identical 10-3-1 records.

Regardless of what happens now, the Packers still have two games left and they could both be in Lambeau field.

If the Bays win Sunday, they'll tackle the Browns for the championship. If they lose they meet the Cowboys in the Playoff Bowl in Miami.

The Packers' setback was most disappointing — to say the least. Yet, the way the 49ers were roaring and snoring the tie really was welcome.

The Bays very easily could have lost, but now they have a championship life going.

The Packers came from behind twice to pass the best offense in the league. The 49ers got off to a 3-0 lead, but the Bays were in front, 7-3 at the half. The 49ers went in front, 17-14 in the fourth quarter but the Bays grabbed the edge again, 21-17, and then 24-17 before the 49ers exploded into a tie on a 27-yard pass from John Brodie to a guy you probably never heard of, Vern Burke, a sophomore tight end.

Fly 56 Yards

It is easy to fault the defense as the 49ers flew 56 yards in four pass plays to grab the knot but the defenders got seven of the Pack's total — on Herb Adderley's 11-yard interception return to make it 14-3 in the third quarter.

The whole issue boiled down

OSHKOSH — Two fourth quarter scoring droughts cost the Menasha St. Mary High School basketball team a 65-49 setback at the hands of Oshkosh Lourdes here Sunday afternoon.

The win boosted the Glen (Red) Kemp-coached Knights into sole possession of second place in the Fox Valley Catholic Conference with a 3-1 mark.

The Zephyrs of Coach Bob Karisny are 2-2 in FVCC play.

The host Knights entered the fourth period with a precarious 44-38 lead, but seemingly put the game on ice with six straight points in the final canto for a 50-38 spread.

At this point, the Zephyrs found the range and a field goal by Mike Heroux with 4:30 left in the game closed the gap to 50-45, but the Zephyrs again suffered through another scoring drought.

11 Straight Points
Lourdes, sparked by five points from Greg Graber and four from Bill Ratzburg, raced to a 61-45 lead, scoring 11 straight points, before St. Mary broke its 3-minute long drought with a fielder by Mike Koerner with just 1:25 left to play.

St. Mary, thanks to its pressing defense, jumped off to an early lead of 9-5 and finished on the long end of a 15-13 count at the end of the first period.

the second period, carried a 33-27 halftime lead to the locker room.

The Zephyrs were never to regain the upper hand as the Knights, with control of the boards, maintained the 6-point spread until Menasha encountered the fatal scoring droughts in the final period.

The well-balanced Knight attack was led by Greg Graber and Randy Walter with 13 points apiece. Mike Batzner and Frank Seckar shipped in with 12 and 10, respectively. Mike Heroux led the Zephyrs with 18 markers and Greg Gill added 10.

Packers Tied by 49ers, Meet Colts Sunday

to the last two minutes, which is all the time that was left when Don Chandler's 31-yard field goal made it 24-17.

Eleven plays and two kickoffs were run off in those eternal two minutes. . . and this was the game.

The Packers made one mistake on the kickoff after the field goal. They were nicked for face masking and the 49ers got good field position on their 44.

Then Brodie hit Dave Parks for 13 yards, Gary Lewis for seven, Parks for nine and Burke for 27 and the TD. Activated in mid-season, Burke had replaced Monte Stickles at tight end on the previous play. He was well covered by Tom Brown, but Brodie broke out of a trap and caught Burke as he made a second move into the end zone. The 49ers tied it with 1:07 left—enough time for the Packers to win. They started on their 32 and Bart Starr quickly got a first down on the 42 with 52 seconds left. The three Starr passes went awry—shorties to Boyd Dowler, and Elijah Pitts and a bomb to Max McGee with 24 seconds left.

With fourth down and 10, the Packers had to punt to protect the tie. . . and they prayed. And they needed a prayer as Kermit Alexander took Chandler's punt on the 16 and snaked 38 yards to the Packer 46 with 7 seconds on the board.

Suddenly, the 49ers were in a position to win. . . Brodie threw a quickie to the left trying to set up a field goal and the ball went out of bounds. About the time the 49er field goal team was going on the field, the gun ended the game. The clock normally would be stopped by an incompletion. This enraged the 49ers.

Called Back 'Late'
That's the "bloodiest" two minutes the Packers ever experienced. . . but they went through something worse just before the half, that "late" call-back of an 86-yard touchdown run by Willie Wood. This removed the Bays from a 14-3 halftime edge.

The officials had to be told of an illegal run—by all people, the 49ers, and Brodie in particular. John David Crow took a pitchout (lateral) from Brodie on the Packer 14 and fumbled it. Wood scooped up the ball and scored.

The rule says you can't return a recovered lateral, but the Jim Johnson (37) of the San Francisco 49ers leaps high to intercept a Green Bay pass intended for flanker Carroll Dale (84) in the third quarter of Sunday's game at San Francisco. officials never realized it until both teams had their extra point teams on the field, in position, and Brodie made his plea.

The Packers were furious and coach Vince Lombardi went on the field, seeking an explanation.

This was an aerial game from start to finish and Brodie's success was surprising since the Bays' defensive strength is against passing. Brodie completed 26 of 34 passes for 295 yards and three TDs. The Bays had allowed only eight TD passes in the first 13 games.

The Packers picked up 225 yards in the air, with Starr hitting 13 of 27 for 203 and Tom Moore hitting two of two option passes. The Bays were held to 76 yards on the ground, while the 49ers made 99.

The 49ers won the main statistics, 20-17, in first downs and 392 to 299 in total yards.

Paul Hornung, the Pack's 5-touchdown hero against the Colts a week ago, went out early with bruised ribs. Jim Taylor picked up 55 yards in 17 trips. Dowler was the Bay's chief aerial threat with six for 117 yards, but the 49ers Parks hit nine for 149.

The 49ers drove 76 yards in nine plays for their 3-0 lead on Tommy Davis' 21-yard field goal early in the second quarter. Then the Packers roared 72 yards in four plays to take a 7-3 edge. It was easy—Taylor 5, Moore threw to Billy Anderson for 12 and Starr hit Carroll Dale for 12 to the 49er 43. Starr faked off to Taylor into the line and Moore on an end run and rifled a 43-yarder to Dowler in the end zone for the TD. Chandler converted.

Midway in the period, Chandler was short on a 50-yard field goal try and the teams exchanged punts after the Wood fiasco.

The teams exchanged interceptions early in the third quarter. Bill Johnson intercepted a long Starr throw to Dale on the 49er seven and Doug Hart intercepted a 40-yard throw aimed at Parks.

Start to Happen
Then things started to happen after Chandler barely missed a 41-yard field attempt. . . like so.

With first and 25, Adderley leaped in front of Bernie Casey, intercepted Brodie's pass and raced untouched into the end zone. The Bays had a 14-3 lead. The 49ers moved 82 yards in eight plays to cut the lead to 14-10 on Brodie's 32-yard pass to Crow who broke away from Adderley on the 10. Brodie completed four passes enroute.

Chandler punted on a fourth-and-1 situation and the 49ers drove 66 yards in nine plays to go ahead 17-14. The payoff coming on a 13-yard pass from Brodie to Parks who got a "life" when Hart fell in the end zone. The big gainer was a 28-yard Brodie pass to Willard.

The Packers slammed back 55 yards in 10 plays to go in front, 21-17, on Taylor's 5-yard smash having good blocks by Forrest Gregg and Fred Thurston. The Bays had to overcome a holding penalty along the way and the big gainer was Starr's 34-yard pass to Long.

Wood made the Pack's third interception, grabbing Brodie's pass on the 50, and four plays

Gopher Star Lou Hudson Breaks Wrist

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Sixth-ranked Minnesota was stunned Sunday when it was learned that forward Lou Hudson, considered an All-American candidate, was lost for most — if not all — of the basketball season because of a broken right wrist.

Hudson jammed the wrist as he fell hard to the court trying to drive down the baseline early in Saturday night's 89-77 Minnesota victory over Creighton.

The 6-foot-5 senior from Greensboro, N.C., finished the game with the wrist heavily taped but scored 32 points. X-rays showed a break in a bone at the base of the right thumb, and the wrist was placed in a cast Sunday.

Gopher Coach John Kundla was shocked at the news.

"I guess I haven't really felt the full impact," he said. "I feel that he is the finest college player in the country," Kundla added. "There is no question but that he is the finest player ever at Minnesota."

Vikings Get by Bears, 24-17

Chicago Vikings scored two touchdowns in the final 90 seconds to spill the Chicago Bears 24-17 in their National Football League finale Sunday.

Rip Hawkins raced 35 yards with an intercepted pass to win the game with 1:05 left. It was the only time the Vikings led.

Chicago, which had been pursuing a second place tie and a berth in the playoff Bowl, finished with a 9-5 record in third place behind Green Bay and Baltimore in the NFL's Western Conference. The Vikings balanced their ledger at 7-7 to wind up fifth.

Rookie Gale Sayers of the Bears set an NFL season touchdown record by crossing the goal line for the 22nd time. He finished one TD ahead of Cleveland's Jim Brown, who was ejected midway through the Browns' game Sunday.

Chicago pulled into a 7-3 third period lead after a scoreless first half and Sayers led a 64-yard drive to extend the margin to 14-3 at the start of the fourth quarter. He carried six times for 43 yards in the march and plunged over from the two.

But Fran Tarkenton rallied the Vikings with a 17-yard touchdown pass to Tom Hall before a Bear field goal made it 17-10 with less than three minutes to go. Tarkenton led an other surge, throwing 41 yards to Hall, then passing 22 to Gordon Smith for the tying touchdown with 1:26 left.

Jimmy Brown Ejected But Cleveland Rallies To Edge Cards, 27-24

Kicking Incident May Have Cost Him Scoring Title

By MIKE RECHT

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Jim Brown never scored any points for the Cleveland Browns by kicking, but his boot Sunday may have cost him enough points to win the National Football League scoring crown.

The classy All-Pro fullback was given that boot by the officials for fighting with defensive end Joe Robb of the St. Louis Cardinals at the end of the first half.

Robb also was ejected, but it did not cost him as much as it did Brown, who lost his duel with Chicago's Gale Sayers for the point title.

Brown had scored his 21st touchdown on a three-yard run in the second quarter, but never had a chance for another. Sayers also tallied once Sunday, giving him 22 touchdowns and the title.

Only Once Before
"I've only been kicked out of a game once before — I think two years ago," Brown said calmly in the locker room after the Eastern Division champion Browns scored without him in the last period for a 27-24 victory and a final 11-3 record.

"He (Robb) hit me once and when he did it a second time, I came back at him," Brown said. "It was one of those quick things and we shook hands almost immediately, but the officials took it more seriously."

Teammates quoted Robb as saying Brown threatened him before the play and came at him with his elbow high and kicked him.

The officials simply said the two were kicking each other. But Cleveland owner Art Modell was angry. He apologized to Brown on behalf of the team as part of the league and called the decision by the officials a "gross injustice."

"He's been kicked, beaten and gouged out there for many seasons and has never complained," Modell said bitterly. "Now once it matters to him, he has to be kicked out after years of injustice."

Overshadows TD
The incident almost overshadowed Frank Ryan's 13-yard scoring toss to Tom Hutchinson in the final 4½ minutes to win the game and safety Larry Wilson's defense effort for the Cardinals.

Wilson intercepted three Ryan passes and recovered a fumble to end another Cleveland threat. He sprinted 95 yards with one theft for the Cardinals' first score and his other grabs set up two more scores that gave St. Louis a 24-17 lead before Lou Groza kicked a field goal and Ryan hit Hutchinson.

"It was my greatest day," Wilson said, but added, "I was really pooped."

"I was out of condition from being laid up," said Wilson, who had been out a month with injury.

His 95-yard return with an interception and his 114 returned all day set Cardinals' records.

Cardinals' Coach Wally Lemm told reporters, "Say anything you want about Wilson and it will be true. He played a whale of a game."

Nobody could kick about that. The Cardinal defense gave them one last chance when it blocked a field goal attempt by Lou Groza and Pat Fisher picked up the ball at the 50 and raced to the Cleveland 24 with 1½ minutes left. But Jackie Smith dropped a pass in the end zone and Nofsinger was unable to connect a fourth down pass.

The Browns, who revenged an earlier 49-13 loss to the Cardinals, built their early lead on three interceptions of Buddy Humphrey passes. Larry Benz grabbed one, setting up the first of Lou Groza's two field goals, and Jim Houston nabbed two, putting Cleveland in position for Ryan's 13-yard toss to Gary Collins and Brown's three-yard scoring run.

The Browns will take an 11-3 record into the championship game. St. Louis finished with a 5-9 mark.

Washington Defense Outscores Offense In 35-14 Triumph

BY W. B. RAGSDALE JR.
WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington buried Pittsburgh under its own mistakes Sunday, scoring two touchdowns on intercepted passes and a third on a fumble recovery in whipping the Steelers 35-14.

The Redskin defense outscored the offense in rolling up the largest Washington point total of a 6-8 season.

Lonnie Sanders set up the first Washington touchdown with a pass interception, then Rickie Harris and Tommy Walters scored the next two after grabbing off Tommy Wade passes. Harris ran 34 yards and Walters went 63.

Bob Pellegrini scooped up a fumble in the final minute of the first half and rambled 31 yards for a touchdown.

Mould On Ground
In losing its 12th game against two victories, Pittsburgh moved the ball occasionally on the ground but had little luck in the air.

In the first half, Wade connected on five of nine passes for 114 yards but had three intercepted. He took his team 86 yards for a touchdown in the second quarter, running 41 yards for the longest gain of the drive.

A few minutes later, Wade hit Ballman, who made a fine run on a 44-yard scoring play.

Washington ground out a fifth touchdown in the third period, moving 26 yards in six plays after a 53-yard punt return by Harris. The score came on a four yard pass from Sonny Jurgensen to George Hughley.

Dick Shiner replaced Jurgensen at quarterback after this and the subs took over for Washington.

De Gaulle Has Brought Own Stability to France

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — When Charles de Gaulle became president of France seven years ago it was in bad shape. Rightists and French military leaders in Algeria were in rebellion against the government.

It was a crisis but France, with one government after another toppling since the war, badly needed some kind of political stability. Its multiplicity of political parties made any permanent government impossible. The French called De Gaulle to power. His programs? He fudged his answers, letting the French take him on face value. Could he give France stability? He could and did for seven years.

Personal Stability

But it was only a personal stability, built around him. When he was re-elected to another seven-year term Sunday there was nothing to show he had prepared France for stability on its own, now or seven years from now.

It has been a one-man show, and he admitted as much recently when he said: "Naturally, the day will come sooner or later when De Gaulle is gone. What will happen then?" He is 75 now.

He had previously revealed what he thought the answer was. Asking the people to give him a second term, he said the choice was between him and catastrophe.

He had seemed like a sure winner but in the first test Dec. 5 against five opponents he got only 44 per cent of the vote and had to go into a runoff Sunday against Francois Mitterrand, 49. This time De Gaulle won with 55 per cent of the vote.

Mitterrand himself is an aloof if not arrogant man and had the endorsement of an odd collection of Frenchmen: Communists, Socialists, and extreme right-wingers. Confronted with that, the French apparently thought De Gaulle was a safer bet.

Now that he has been restored to power — after a few human and homey campaign appearances on television — he can be expected to be his old haughty self, and that can mean misery for the United States and Britain.

Might Wreck NATO

It will not be surprising if, before his second seven years are up, he wrecks the Western nations' NATO alliance through his insistence everything must be played his way or not at all.

He has small stomach for politics. But it is possible he will outlive his usefulness before his term ends. Nations, while appreciating their heroes, do get impatient with them. The British showed that.

Couple Found In Suicide Pact Near Wausau

LAKE TOMAHAWK, Wis. (AP) — A middle-aged couple was found shot to death Sunday night in what authorities called a suicide pact.

The bodies of Elmer F. Kroening, 48, and his wife, Marie, 49, of Rothschild, near Wausau, were found in separate bedrooms of their mobile home in a trailer court near Tomahawk Lake just outside of this Oneida County village.

Sheriff Alfred E. Sommers said a .30-06 rifle was between Kroening's knees. He said a .12-gauge shotgun lay partially beneath Mrs. Kroening's body.

Both victims were shot in the head.

Coroner John E. Hyde described the deaths as the result of a "suicide pact."

No note was found, but Sher-

The shooting apparently took place Friday night, he said.

Hand it to Hotpoint

the first machine that does all your hand washing — even cashmere sweaters

How did we do it? Instead of simply one, two, three, four or even six standard wash speed selections, now you can dial exactly the agitation and spin speed you want. You completely control agitation and spin speed to duplicate the gentle safe washing action of your own hands. The results are simply beautiful. Tests on virtually every known natural and synthetic hand-washable fabric have conclusively demonstrated that controlled Hotpoint machine washing is as safe, gentle and even more thorough than hand washing. Whether it's slacks, skirts, lingerie, sweaters, Hotpoint "hand washes" them to perfection. Then pop them in your Hotpoint Dryer and they come out wrinkle-free and ready to wear.

Important as it is, "hand washing" is only one of many Hotpoint features you'll appreciate. It can handle big 16-pound loads. There are an infinite number of water level selections, too, a bleach and rinse dispenser, lint filter, fountain filter washing action, and the Hotpoint washer is porcelain finished inside and out. From the grimmest heavy work clothes to a delicate cashmere sweater... HAND IT TO HOTPOINT.

Dallas Gains Berth In Playoff Bowl on Win Over Giants

Meredith, Hayes and Defense Instrumental in 38-20 Triumph

BY JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP) — "There just wasn't no way we were going to stall at the gate after going this far."

Don Meredith was talking about the 38-20 victory of the Dallas Cowboys over the New York Giants Sunday that sent the winners into the Jan. 9 Playoff Bowl at Miami.

"I'm not ashamed of finishing second," said the 27-year-old quarterback. "We had gum, we deserved it."

Meredith had gum, he deserved it. He had rejuiced the arm in a fall during the training season at Thousand Oaks, Calif. It got so bad that Coach Tom Landry benched him.

Started Moving
"Don just wasn't throwing good with that bad arm," said Landry. "So I set him down. When he got back in there we started moving and won five of four last seven. We should have won them all."

Meredith threw three touchdowns passes, two to Hayes, the Olympic sprint champion, and one to Buddy Dial. Although he completed only eight of 18 for 200 yards, he did hit with the three big ones and he finished among the top rushers with 54 yards on five runs.

"We don't care who we play in Miami," said Meredith. "We beat 'em. We've got a real fine football team."

Hayes became the first rookie since Mike Ditka of the Chicago Bears in 1961 to gain more than 1,000 yards in pass catching. The speed merchant from Florida A&M caught 46 passes for 1,003 yards. The big catches Sunday were 65-yard and 33-yard losses from Meredith. In each case Hayes simply ran away from the defense.

Defense Saved Day
It was the Dallas defense that saved the day when danger threatened. The Giants had pulled up to within three points, trailing 17-14, and were down to the Cowboys' 33 early in the final period.

Jerry Hillebrand attempted his first pro field goal from the 42 but Cornell Green, Dallas cornerback, blocked the kick and Obert Logan, a rookie free agent from Trinity of Texas, picked it up and ran 60 yards for the back-breaking score. A few minutes later a conversion attempt following a Giant touchdown was blocked by Jethro Pugh.

One reason for the success of the Dallas club which finished in a second-place tie with New York at 7-7 in the East was its ability to block field goals and conversions. It wound up the year with nine blocked field goals and six other assorted punts and conversion attempts.

Tied for Second
Dallas and New York tied for second but the Cowboys get the Miami trip because they beat the Giants twice.

Landry was high in praise to Hayes, who has been the Cowboys' big offensive threat.

"Hayes was to us what Gale Sayers was to Chicago," said Landry. "He is the kind who can break a game open, a sparkler. Down in Dallas people come alive when he gets into a play."

Hayes was pleased with his rookie year that probably will land him in the Pro Bowl.

"Henry Carr and I proved that track men can play football," said Hayes. "I didn't think I could make the team at the start. I thought they would put me on the kickoff return team or punt returns but I made first string from the beginning."

"In football you have to perform with men really coming at you. In track you just line up and run."

Solaced By Performance
Coach Alvin Sherman of the Giants, disappointed in the defeat, was solaced by the fine performance of a team that finished 2-10-2 last year.

"From the way we were going to training camp it was nice to be able to shoot for something to the very end and not 2-10-2 or fourth."

"Earl Morrall deserves so much credit. He really did all right and he had quite a road to go, joining us in camp. Morrall had it all to do, compared to some of the others."

San Diego and Buffalo tuned up for the championship game next Sunday, the Chargers defeating Oakland 24-14 and the Bills dropping a 14-12 decision to the New York Jets.

Dawson completed 11 of 22 passes for 282 yards against the Broncos before turning the quarterbacking over to Pete Beathard and Bert Coan, taking tries. Joe Namath's two touchdowns passes to Don Norton pulled San Diego into a 14-14 tie and the Chargers pulled ahead to stay in the fourth quarter on a 66-yarder from Don Breaux to Lance Alworth.

"I was playing his position and I wanted to play it as he would have," said Kansas City's Curt McClinton. "I dedicated myself to do it the way he would have done it."

The position McClinton was playing belonged to his roommate and teammate Mack (The Truck) Hill, who died suddenly last Tuesday from complications arising over a knee operation.

And McClinton, shifted from his normal halfback position, scored one touchdown and set up three others by grabbing five passes for 213 yards as the emotionally charged Chiefs outslugged Denver 45-35 Sunday in an American Football League game.

McClinton scored on an 11-yard touchdown run, and set up three others scores with key receptions of 52, 12 and 69 yards en route to a total gain of 228 yards for the game. His one-man show even impressed his teammates, all of whom had dedicated the game to Hill.

Super-Human Effort
"Curtis showed super-human effort," said quarterback Len Dawson. "That was a sensational effort," said punt return specialist Frank Jackson.

Becomes First in SEC Grant-in-Aid Signed by Negro to Attend Kentucky

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Louisville's Thomas Jefferson High School, had signed a University of Kentucky athletic scholarship and his mother, Mrs. William Northington, had given her approval with the governor standing at their side.

Breathitt talked with Northington privately at the luncheon, after which they set out for the university, 32 miles away at Lexington.

Northington signed at Lexington in the presence of Kentucky football coach Charlie Bradshaw and his staff and university President John Oswald.

"This is a great and historic day for the University of Kentucky," Oswald said, "and for its athletic program and for the Southeastern Conference."

From Lexington, Breathitt, Northington and Kentucky assistant coach George Boone drove 70 miles to Louisville to get the signature of Northington's mother on the scholarship.

Breathitt, also chairman of the university board of trustees, called last week for increased efforts for the university to sign a Negro to a grant.

Lions Defeat Eagles, 35-28

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Harry Gilmer felt like the guy who butchers 17 holes in a golf match, then birdies the 18th. He can't wait for the next game to start.

Gilmer, the Detroit Lions' first-year coach, has been waiting all season for his offense to jell. It did Sunday in the final game of the season.

"I wish training camp opened tomorrow," said the one-time pro quarterback as he savored the Lions' 35-28 National Football League victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

"This was our best over-all effort of the year," said Gilmer. "Our big problem has been a consistent passing game. Our receivers have been dropping the ball all over the place."

Great Effort

What pleased Gilmer most was the great effort he got from three rookies.

Plagued with injuries all season to key personnel, the Lions Sunday went with a fullback who had carried the ball 12 times in the previous 13 games, and a running halfback who had played only defense.

Tom Nowatzke, a No. 1 draft choice last year from Indiana, carried the ball 15 times for 52 yards, caught several key passes, including one for a 22-yard touchdown that won the game, and plunged for another TD. Bob Felts, first year defensive back from Florida A&M., carried the ball 20 times for 58 yards.

The running of Nowatzke and Felts opened the Eagles' defense for quarterback Milt Plum's passing, and the former Penn Stater responded with an 18 for 31, 218-yard, three-touchdown day.

Gibbon Scores

Plum passed 10-yards to veteran end Jim Gibbon for the first Lions' TD, then set up a one-yard plunge by Nowatzke for a score that made it 14-0 in the first period.

Dave Lloyd recovered a Detroit fumble on the Lions' 39 to start an Eagles' drive that wound up with a nine-yard TD aerial from quarterback Norm Snead to Ollie Matson. Plum then flipped 31 yards to rookie John Henderson in the end zone. Henderson, the third first year standout for Detroit, caught five for 83 yards.

The Eagles made it 21-14 at halftime with Tim Brown driving the two yards for the score.

Sabre League at Sabre Lanes. In the same circuit, Carol Schommer had a 191 game and 514 series, Rita Monroe posted a 201 singleton and Rosie Kettleson had a 198 game.

The Women's All-Star League at New London was paced by Charlotte Grunwald with a 229 game and Anna Mae Burns had a 527 series. Charlotte finished with a 520 threesome and the 229 game was her first ever over the 200 mark. She had six strikes in the game. Other honor scores included Carol Krueger 200-524 and Juanita Klatt 194-513.

Mrs. Robert Mathiebe Blasts 607 'National' Set at Brillion

Mrs. Robert (Janet) Mathiebe, of Brillion, rolled a 607 national honor count for the Jensen Bar team in the Thursday night Women's Bowling League at Koffarnus Lanes.

Mrs. Mathiebe collected games of 198, 245 and 164 to tabulate her third national honor count. Last year she had a 613 and the year before a 607 in league competition.

The 28 year old mother of six youngsters has not missed a season of league bowling in 10 years. Her current average is 154.

The national honor count was the ninth recorded at Fox Cities and area lanes by women this season.

Jo Ann Goettel slammed a 516 series to lead the AAL Women's League at Sabre Lanes in recent action and the only other honor score was a 501 by Deanna Bauman.

Sue Schroeder hammered a 210 game, and 558 series to lead the way in the Bent yards, caught several key passes, including one for a 22-yard touchdown that won the game, and plunged for another TD. Bob Felts, first year defensive back from Florida A&M., carried the ball 20 times for 58 yards.

The running of Nowatzke and Felts opened the Eagles' defense for quarterback Milt Plum's passing, and the former Penn Stater responded with an 18 for 31, 218-yard, three-touchdown day.

left, Shinnick rushed up to the television monitor and planted a kiss on the image of the 49ers' offensive end.

May Have to Play

Tom Matte started at quarterback in Baltimore's 20-17 upset victory over the Los Angeles Rams Saturday, filling in for injured John Unitas and Gary Cuozzo after five years as an NFL halfback. And, Matte may have to play in the spot all the way against Green Bay.

Under NFL rules, a player is not eligible for playoff or championship games unless he was on the roster for the last two regular season games. That would make veteran quarterback Ed Brown, picked up on waivers from Pittsburgh last week, and rookie George Haffner, added from the Colts' taxi squad last week, ineligible for Sunday's game.

However, Baltimore General Manager Don Kellest said he would seek a special ruling from NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, because of the extraordinary conditions involved, to make Brown and Haffner eligible.

Will Start Matte

Even if Brown is available, Shula said he would start Matte, "and work Brown into certain situations." That's what happened against Los Angeles when Brown threw one touchdown pass during his brief stint after only one day of practice.

"We'll have to spend a lot of time with the offense," Shula said. "We'll have to work them hard, without taking too much out of them."

"Anything we add to the offense will be more than we had last week," he said.

move the ball within field goal range. The pass was incomplete however, and Chris sent the field goal team into the game with two seconds showing on the scoreboard clock.

The gun went off after the team was lined up.

Christiansen hedged at predicting the playoff game's outcome.

"I didn't think there was any doubt that Los Angeles would beat the Colts, with Unitas and Cuozzo hurt," he admitted, "But Baltimore used Tom Matte to the fullest extent."

"More Solid Club"

"Green Bay at the present time seems to be a more solid club, and has a good defense unit. But so does Baltimore."

Finally, he concluded that "it will depend on the team that gets a couple of breaks and can capitalize on them."

Ironically, Christiansen saw a call like the one that nullified Wood's long jaunt once before.

The only thing I could think of while the officials were discussing it was that I did it against Green Bay (when he was playing for Detroit).

"They called it back then and I was the first one at the official."

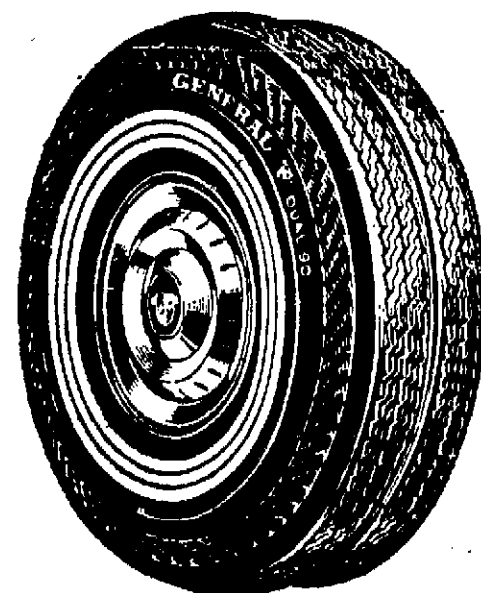

"I'm glad they read the rule books today."

Mr. Gronouski in Poland

It was widely assumed that former Postmaster General John Gronouski was booted upstairs when he was appointed United States Ambassador to Poland. But because of a unique series of circumstances Gronouski's new role may turn out to be of considerably more importance.

Gronouski was acclaimed by the Poles when he arrived in Warsaw. They were complimented that a Polish-American was appointed to the United States Embassy there. And it gave them another excuse to demonstrate what is generally felt to be the real feeling of friendship the majority of Poles have for the United States. Gronouski's arrival had not been officially announced but the word got around and there were thousands to greet him.

For ten years talks have been going on between the Red Chinese and the Americans through the Polish Embassy.

Ambassador Gronouski has already had one meeting with the main Chinese representative. And while he obviously passed along communications given to him by Secretary of State Dean Rusk whom he met in Paris previously, Gronouski's own diplomatic manner is going to be important. This is a critical time in history to talk to the Red Chinese so that they will not underestimate our determination to win in Viet Nam. A correct understanding of our aims in Asia is extremely important right now and for the future of conflicts with the Red Chinese brand of Communism.

Mr. Gronouski did not particularly speed the mails in the United States but neither has his successor. The new Ambassador's role in Poland could turn out to be of much further reaching importance.

The Vanishing OAA

One of the intriguing stories in state government as routinely certified in the statistical reports of the State Department of Public Welfare is the gradual reduction in size of the old age assistance program, with the clear implication that before many more years pass it will be virtually extinguished.

The last summary shows that there were fewer than 27,000 persons receiving assistance from what has been known colloquially if inaccurately as "old age pension." That is less than half of the caseload of two decades ago, when the total population of the state was lower and the ratio of elderly citizens to the general population was considerably less.

What has happened in the intervening years is fairly visible. The old age and retirement program of the U.S. Social Security system has increasingly expanded in coverage. More recently the new health assistance act has undoubtedly diverted from old age assistance payrolls many hundreds of persons who might have been enrolled there. More particularly, the inauguration of the medical care program under Social Security next year will provide a further lessening of caseload increments and ultimately, will probably remove the necessity for a categorical old age assistance program altogether. Even today about 75 cents out of each dollar disbursed on account of old age assistance beneficiaries represents health care services rather than subsistence items such as housing, food, and clothing.

It is worth remembering that the old age assistance program was one of the pioneering achievements of this state, when the counties were authorized and encouraged to set up such separate relief budgets many years ago. The state soon took over the responsibility, even before the federal government moved into the field. In recent times it has been a financing partnership, with the national government providing approximately half of the cost of benefits and administration, and the state and county taxpayers sharing the liability for the remainder.

A current news dispatch from Madison recalls a significant characteristic of the Wisconsin program. It has been administered over the years with a deliberate policy of generosity to those persons who are qualified, that is to say in demonstrated need of help, but with a prudent system of testing eligibility. Thus the Wisconsin case payment average tends to be high in the country, while the ratio of persons on the payrolls has been comparatively low when measured against the nation and the several states over the years. That has evidently suited the temper of the Wisconsin voting public, for we cannot remember a political dispute about the program in recent times. Here again Wisconsin public policy stands on the rule that liberalism is not profligacy, and vice versa.

Canada Also Has Indian Problem

The various problems Wisconsin is having with Indians in the state is symptomatic of not only a nationwide dilemma but one that is currently plaguing governmental units in Canada as well.

Prime Minister Lester Pearson is also conducting a war on poverty and the statistics presented about Canada's Indians are shocking. Only 44 per cent of the Indian dwellings have any electricity and only 13 per cent have running water. Six out of ten Indian families earn less than $1,000 a year. And those who believe that there is something remarkably healthy about living in such conditions need only to look at the mortality rates among Canada's Indians to change their minds. The life expectancy of Canadians over all is 60 years; for Canada's Indians it is 34. Most of the deaths are caused by colds and pneumonia, obviously complicated by poor physical condition.

Canada, like the United States, is trying to put solutions on a local or regional basis and get the federal government out of it. But the efforts run into a variety of problems, some of them caused by white prejudice and discrimination, some by the Indians' inability on the whole to make up their minds exactly how they do want to live. On the one hand are those who still consider themselves a separate people and want to retain the way of life they had when the white men pushed them out. On the other are those who would prefer to be integrated and understand the responsibilities of citizenship in the modern world.

As far as possible the solutions should come from the tribe members themselves as long as they do not merely involve requests for more funds. But it is going to take a long time. And the feelings of guilt by whites who have shrugged off the Indian's problems for so long also contribute to the confusion.

LBJ Should Blow Whistle on Bobby For Meddling in Foreign Affairs

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy returns from Latin America obviously determined to increase his pressures on President Johnson's foreign policies.

It's widely agreed that Mr. Kennedy has chosen this way to line himself up for the White House, and so far the President has displayed great patience with this play. For the record shows our nation needs Bobby's influence in foreign affairs about as much as we need a cholera epidemic.

Taylor

His main pitch in Latin America, begun some years ago at the University of Toronto, was to eulogize youth revolutions per se. Bobby makes himself one of the boys. He has scheduled some speeches in strife-torn South Africa. We're suffering from a lack of revolutions throughout the world? And who is Bobby Kennedy to intrude on the sovereignty of friendly powers, anyway?

MISSION OF MISCHIEF
It was a mission of mischief. He reportedly assured audiences that if a Communist were elected President of a Latin nation, the United States would not intervene. Hey! Only the President has the authority to announce such a commitment. Hasn't Bobby heard?

Moreover, all gall even to open his mouth about Latin America.

Chroniclers of President Kennedy's period paint Bobby into their books as practically a co-President, and the consequences of the Bay of Pigs alone complicate Mr. Johnson's problem beyond measure.

Yet Bobby couldn't wait to criticize Mr. Johnson's Dominican Republic intervention, claiming Mr. Johnson had not training as any other child, being spanked when it was necessary and cuddled afterward. It grew up and always gave us a great feeling of pride in its achievements and its choice of friends. When the time came to marry, the spouse chosen was, as expected, a perfect complement.

We have been presented over the years with grandchildren who can be regarded with great pride, by not only their parents, but to the both sets of grandparents, as well. It takes years of our age to have these little ones come running to us, screaming and yelling, "Hi Gram, Hi Gramps," including us in their play and almost strangling us with farewell hugs.

I think that this is true of most adopted children, because if we had not really wanted them, we would have been satisfied to live out our lives selfishly alone. Now we know that if we are in trouble, ill health or whatever comes with age, the child you have given us is there ready, willing and anxious to help "with love and affection."

A Foster Parent

worked enough through the Organization of American States.

This was double-talk at the double-time. When Bobby was asked (May 7, 1965) whether, in fact, he and President Kennedy had consulted the OAS before the Bay of Pigs he replied, "No."

"I don't think we handled the Bay of Pigs well," Bobby added. I doubt that Mr. Johnson would disagree. Within a year and a half Russia had been so encouraged that she placed her troops and missiles in Cuba. This required President Kennedy to "confront" the U.S.S.R. He ordered the blockade and, incredibly, took it off in less than 30 days.

Within another year Castro's Latin-America subversion was so damaging that President Kennedy was forced to make a trip and tell protesting leaders in the hemisphere that there was nothing he could do to help it.

Six elected Latin-American governments promptly fell, including Dr. Juan Bosch's government in the Dominican Republic. President Kennedy was then forced to recognize and support the military junta that threw Bosch out. This was the Dominican mess tossed to Mr. Johnson, and Bobby, of all people, criticizes his handling of it!

As for Southeast Asia, President Johnson actually tried him out once.

President Kennedy acquiesced in Sukarno's campaign against Netherlands' New Guinea in December, 1961. The result forced our NATO ally to cede it. Feeding on that success of aggression Sukarno than swore to crush free Malaysia.

CEASE-FIRE CONFERENCE
At this point President Johnson allowed Robert F. Kennedy to charge into the picture, alas, and Bobby staged his much-publicized "cease-fire" conference with Sukarno in Tokyo.

He not only offered to review more aid to Sukarno but also proposed himself a mediator with the British and Dutch and shocked every knowing man by announcing that Sukarno "will live up to his agreement with me."

By sounding off in the world press about the internal affairs of quarreling nations, Bobby not only compounded an already bad situation but put America's neck right in the middle of the fight between Sukarno, the Dutch and the British—which is exactly where he left it for Mr. Johnson to struggle with today.

All Bobby needs to do now is to go to Viet Nam, as did his brother Ted, and come back and tell Mr. Johnson how to handle that catastrophe, too.

Theodore Sorensen writes that, overruling the advice of the Special Mission to South Viet Nam and of Vice-President Johnson (please note), the Kennedy brothers refused to commit American troops to South Viet Nam. Then President Johnson had to commit these later on under much less advantageous circumstances and in vastly larger numbers.

The time has come for the President to blow the whistle on Bobby as an expert in foreign affairs. Both Mr. Johnson and the nation are entitled to at least that much protection.

Potomac Fever— by Jack Wilson

A Soviet doctor says a patient had headaches because a sunflower seed sprouted in his ear. And those bees going in and out make a bad buzzing noise, too.

LBJ made a long distance call to urge the AFL-CIO to help prevent inflation. The connection was terrible—as soon as he finished they raised George Meany's pay $25,000.

There Should be No Confusion Over Role Of Reorganized CCHE

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The first deliberations of the reorganized Coordinating Committee for Higher Education have been diverted into a debate with overtones of a power struggle about the intended and legitimate functions of the agency.

Wyngaard

Why there should be any dispute, or any doubt, or any room for haggling is not entirely clear. The intention of the authors of the reorganization act was clear enough. The endorsement of those purposes by Gov. Knowles was crystal clear in a succession of his public statements, the last one issued on the occasion of his approval of the legislation. There wasn't much doubt about the intentions of the legislature in a bipartisan vote.

In point of fact, there was very little doubt about the purposes of the creation of the original Coordinating Committee in 1955. The legislature erred then in giving a majority of its seats, and with that majority a voting control, to the representatives of the regents of existing institutions. That made its directing and coordinating task in state-supported higher education more theoretical than real, as the Kellett task force thoughtfully observed in a comprehensive recent report on the administration and the planning of the costly higher education program supported by the state treasury.

THE DIVISION

The division of authority and function between the higher education institutions and their own governing boards, on the one hand, and the Coordinating Committee should not be in the slightest doubt in the mind of anyone who has paid any heed to the discussions attending the new law or who has read the literal terms of the new act. The internal operations and the day-to-day administration of the University of Wisconsin, the state university system and the others remain the responsibility of their officers and regents. The responsibility of the Coordinating Committee is to direct and coordinate the system as a whole, to plan the division of functions and programs, to blueprint future developments in curriculum and plant and to act as an agent-advisor of the legislature in the evolution of what is the most important of the state's services and soon will be by all odds the most costly.

The Kellett committee's report, unfortunately too little noted when it was published several weeks ago, raised a series of vital questions in the context of future planning for higher education.

Who during the next 10 years should determine the extent to which educational opportunities for higher education shall be provided for residents and nonresidents? Who during the next 10 years should determine the extent to which buildings and facilities for higher education shall be provided, and in what locations?

Who should determine the extent to which facilities are to be used, and what limitations, if any, are to be placed on nonresidents, both undergraduate and graduate?

BIG QUESTIONS

Who should determine student fees, tuition charges, and budgets?

Who should determine standards for admissions, what degrees shall be offered, and what research programs should be undertaken?

There are many others which will be among the most important public policy questions in state government during the years ahead. Ultimately they are questions for resolution by the legislature, but the legislature has chosen to create an advisory organization that can review them objectively and yet expertly, without the intervention of institutional or bureaucratic self-interest, real or implied.

They are the tasks of the Coordinating Committee, and no one who has observed the evolution of the idea and its acceptance by the legislature and governors of both political parties can seriously pretend to doubt it. A denial can be construed only as the stubborn resistance of a rear-guard that doesn't know the fight is over.

Strictly Personal

Word Buxom First Meant to be Obedient

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

One of the most fascinating studies I know is the way in which words change their meanings — not merely over the centuries, but sometimes within a generation or two. Dictionaries can scarcely keep up with such rapid shifts in meaning.

Harris

One of the most common and obvious is the word "presently." Until modern times, it meant "now" or "immediately" or "at once." Today, however, when someone says, "I'll be along presently," he means "soon" or "before long" or "in a little while." The old meaning is gone.

The same has happened, of course, with hundreds of words. During the Middle English period, the word "wan" meant "dark"; somehow, the whole meaning became reversed into "pale," and the older sense has disappeared without a trace.

A modern example of another word turning into its opposite is "livid," which should describe a bluish leaden color; but most people use it to describe a red or purplish color. A man who "turns livid with rage" should get paler, but we use it today to describe a face inflamed with anger. Possibly, as Theodore Bernstein suggests, this is by a confused association with "vivid" or "lurid."

"Buxom" has had a career that should interest psychologists as well as linguists. It originally meant "obedient," and had no connotation of "plump" or "busty." The British bride of early times promised to be "buxom and bonny" to her husband, which meant she would be obedient and pleasant. Since skinny women were thought to be intractable and anxious, the word gradually came to mean "pleasingly plump."

Some words narrow their meaning over the years; others extend them. The most flagrant extension in our time is, perhaps, "alibi," which was originally a plea that the accused was somewhere else when the crime was committed. Today, "alibi" means a reason or excuse of any kind, and not just one having to do with place. Recall Lardner's "Alibi Ike."

One word that has been narrowed (with, on the whole, regrettable results) is "discipline." This once meant "to train and control," and comes from the word "disciple." Now it is almost wholly used in the sense of "to punish," and one special way of disciplining has been turned into the whole meaning of the word.

In the 20th Century, "religion" has moved out of the churches and into the world. We now speak of "the religion of Communism," or "the religion of money," to describe an over-riding system of beliefs, whether such beliefs are theological or not. And possibly we are right in doing so.

Valley in Brazil Site for Vineyards

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The government has announced a project to grow grapes in the Sao Francisco River Valley, which cuts a green swath through the northeastern "drought polygon."

Table and wine grapes will be grown experimentally in the region which is periodically flayed by droughts. The Ministry of Agriculture has set aside $32,000 for the project — a part of development plans for the valley of the one constantly flowing river in the area.

The Sao Francisco is Brazil's second-largest river, after the Amazon.

Viet Cong Are Driven From Ammo Dump

en Nhon Special Forces camp in the Plain of Reeds 40 miles west of Saigon. The U. S.-advised government forces threw back the Communists with tactical air support and claimed 29 Viet Cong killed.

Hit Hideout

Twelve miles farther west, battalions of South Vietnamese regional troops slammed into a Viet Cong hideout, killing 26 Communists and destroying 30 sampans and 53 buildings, spokesmen reported. The attack force also captured 12 sampans and found more than 100 grenades and a dozen weapons.

With an improvement in the weather, U. S. warplanes ended a two-day lull in the raids on North Viet Nam. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs dropped 49 tons of bombs and rockets on the Bac Can highway bridge 75 miles north of Hanoi, spokesmen said. Pilots reported two spans down, a third damaged and damage to six anti-aircraft positions nearby that protect the strategic supply route from Red China.

One F105 went down after being hit by ground fire. The pilot ejected 45 miles south of Haiphong, North Viet Nam's major port, and was picked up by an amphibious rescue plane.

Planes Collide

A small U. S. Army observation plane collided with a South Vietnamese single-engine aircraft on a support mission 27 miles south of Da Nang, killing both two-man crews.

Over the weekend, U. S. Marines and Army men marked the Viet Cong birthday by killing nearly 200 Communists in three clashes with sizeable Viet Cong forces.

With U.S. military personnel restricted to quarters by a dusk-to-dawn curfew, Saigon passed through the night without incident. A heavy guard patrolled the area of the U.S. Embassy and the U.S. Information Service office, both potential prime targets for Viet Cong birthday violence.

Founded in 1960

The National Liberation Front was founded in 1960 under Communist leadership to give the growing guerrilla insurgency a political organization.

A Viet Cong call on Saigonese to observe 15 minutes of silence Sunday to protest the war passed unheeded as traffic flowed and business continued uninterrupted.

"It was a flop, a fiasco," commented a U.S. official.

The only terrorist action took place on the outskirts when a Viet Cong cyclist hurled a grenade at a police station, wounding six policemen. Police gunfire killed the terrorist.

In a flareup of action at the start of Christmas week, the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile Division fought a Communist battalion 12 miles northwest of the coastal town of Qui Nhon, about 265 miles northeast of Saigon.

Red Groundfire

The Flying Horsemen came under Communist groundfire as they landed by helicopter in an area held by 1,500 to 2,000 Viet Cong. But by the time the shooting died down, the Americans counted 72 enemy dead. U.S. casualties were described as light. Most came when Viet Cong fire hit four 1st Cavalry helicopters.

Just 30 miles east of Saigon, the 173rd Airborne Brigade joined with the 1st Infantry Division to seek out and destroy a hard-core Viet Cong unit in a joint operation called "Smash."

Strengthened by South Vietnamese and Australian troops, the two U.S. units split the Viet Cong in a linkup following tactical air assaults and 1,600 rounds of artillery.

Moving into the Communist camp, Operation Smash claimed an early count of 16 Viet Cong dead, 4 captured and 20 suspects detained. The Aussies destroyed a large store of Viet Cong rice.

In Death Valley south of Da Nang, U.S. Marines collided with 400 Communist troops Saturday, breaking a lull in Operation Harvest Moon, which began Dec. 8 to trap a large Viet Cong force. The Marines said 103 Reds were killed in the latest encounter in the 20-mile-long rice valley 350 miles northeast of Saigon.

The Marines and South Vietnamese troops claimed to have killed 1,200 Communists earlier in the sweep with ground and air attacks.

In Pleiku, South Vietnamese military officials announced they have quelled the latest uprising against the Saigon government by anti-Communist Montagnards, mountain tribesmen seeking autonomy in five central highland provinces. The officials said some of the tribesmen surrendered voluntarily after a brief revolt, while others were captured. Ringleaders will be punished, the officials said.

Storm Rages Over Hanoi Peace Probe

Nuclear Policy, attacked the administration on the ground that it was "avoiding negotiations (by publication of the correspondence) in order to keep the National Liberation Front (the political arm of the Communist guerrilla forces in South Viet Nam) out of any future government in Saigon."

North Viet Nam itself denounced the whole thing Saturday as a hoax and in effect denied that a peace probe had been made.

Fools Nobody

The Communist Chinese chimed in Sunday, calling the report of peace feelers a "U.S.-made hoax" which "fools nobody."

U.S. officials here were impressed by the degree of confirmation in the Hanoi broadcast, however, of the main mechanical fact of the reported peace offer — the meeting Nov. 11 between La Pira and Italian Professor Mario Primicerio, with Ho and Premier Pham Van Dong.

The North Vietnamese announcement differed in its emphasis from the account which La Pira passed on to Italian Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani, the U.N. General Assembly president, and which Fanfani reported to Washington in a Nov. 20 letter to President Johnson.

Prepared for Peace

The La Pira-Fanfani account said the Vietnamese were prepared for peace negotiations on the basis of the 1954 Geneva agreements creating Viet Nam provided the United States would accept the Communists' four-point program, which Hanoi called its definition of the Geneva treaty, as a basis for the talks.

The Hanoi account which denounced the State Department disclosure said flatly that "the United States must recognize these four points and show this with practical deeds so as to find a political solution to the Viet Nam problem."

That is in line with North Viet Nam's standard public position but it is harder as a statement of policy than the La Pira version reported by Fanfani and released in the Fanfani letter to Johnson.

Aren't Ready

Diplomatic authorities said privately they thought the Hanoi government might have considered it necessary to issue Saturday's denial to preserve its position with Communist China, which is regarded here as vehemently opposed to peace in Viet Nam. But officials said it was equally possible and perhaps more logical that North Viet Nam's leaders simply aren't ready to negotiate yet on any terms other than their own.

The principal Communist term which the Johnson administration has been totally unwilling to accept is Point Three, which requires that the Communists have a decisive role in the future of South Viet Nam. Johnson and Rusk have taken the position that on this issue there can be no compromise.

Fanfani's letter to Johnson was answered by Rusk Dec. 4 and Fanfani sent the essence of the reply along to North Viet Nam. Rusk asked for clarification on several points of La Pira's version of Ho's statement.

Next Move

Diplomatically, therefore, the next move would appear to be up to Hanoi. "No answer has reached me as of today," Fanfani said Friday.

When the sequence of events became public, U.S. officials went to great efforts to emphasize that the apparent peace feeler had not been rejected as reported by the Post-Dispatch.

But the next day, the Post-Dispatch quoted "well-placed diplomats" at the United Nations as saying U.S. bombing last Wednesday of an electrical power plant in the vicinity of the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong constituted a clear answer to the peace offer.

In a story by U.N. correspondent Donald Grant, the paper said Johnson had been informed in advance of the air strike that any such action would "close the door to negotiations." Goldberg, however, said Sunday that this is "completely untrue."

Other Developments

There were these other weekend developments:

—President Johnson received a report Sunday from Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield on a 30,000-mile fact-finding trip dealing mainly with Viet Nam. Mansfield and four colleagues who accompanied him said upon their arrival in Washington Saturday night that "the longer a solution is delayed, the more extended the destructiveness of the conflict will become and the more difficult the restoration of a rational and durable peace."

—Pope Paul VI, speaking to 20,000 persons in St. Peter's Square, appealed to "responsible leaders" to head at the least a Viet Cong proposal for a 12-hour Christmas Eve cease-fire in Viet Nam. "We hope that from the cease-fire there would follow reflections and negotiations, then finally the equilibrium of concord and peace . . ."

—Goldberg, commenting on the Pope's appeal, said that the United States seeks peace "not only for Christmas but for all time." As for the Viet Cong proposal, Goldberg said "our local commanders have been authorized to work that out provided it can be done without themselves being fired on."

its target, the Wasp. Officials said Schirra acknowledged that Borman got slightly closer, but blamed it on an instrument in the Gemini 6 capsule which was slightly off.

Bet Called Off

Astronaut Donald K. Slayton, director of the Gemini 7 crew, said the bet was called off.

"There was a lot of handshaking and mutual congratulations," said Slayton of the meeting of the two Gemini crews.

The reunion was a brief one. Schirra and Stafford had to leave for Houston only 45 minutes after Borman and Lovell arrived at Cape Kennedy.

Of prime interest to researchers is finding out how much calcium was lost during the space flight.

Other tests will show whether a heart gets "lazy" in the weightlessness of outer space, and how much of a strain it puts on a spaceman returning to earth's gravity.

Some researchers fear that over a long period of time calcium loss could make bones dangerously brittle.

Phyllis Diller Separates From New Husband

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedienne Phyllis Diller has separated from her husband of less than three months, a spokesman announced.

The spokesman said entertainer Ward Donovan moved out of the couple's West Los Angeles home last week. Miss Diller and her four children by a previous marriage will continue to live there.

No reason was given for the separation. Miss Diller divorced Sherwood Diller in St. Louis last September, ending their 25-year marriage. She married Donovan Oct. 7.

Letters for Viet Nam

Soldiers' Mail Arrives Soddien by Pigs' Feet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — In the mass of mail pouring in from the states to the U.S. servicemen in South Viet Nam was this three-gallon glass jar of pickled pigs feet.

To the two men who shoulder the daily responsibility of getting the mail through to the soldiers, this ordinarily would be no problem.

But let one of them, M. Sgt. James V. Adams of Penfield, Ill., tell what happened.

"The glass jar broke and there was a real mess. It took us some time to pick out the broken glass and sort out the soddien letters from the big metal container we use for the mail."

The other man responsible for the mail getting through is Capt. Gerald C. Aker of Bellevue, Wash., a former air force navigator and onetime teacher.

30,000 Pounds of Mail

The Aker-Adams team directs the handling of about 270,000 pounds of mail daily at the aerial mail terminal at Saigon's airport. About 30,000 pounds make up the letters and packages being sent back home.

The other 12 tons is mail addressed to U.S. troops on duty in South Viet Nam.

Three months ago the daily volume of service mail handled here was about 50,000 pounds, says Adams, the noncommissioned officer in charge of the aerial mail terminal.

Aker, 32, is a veteran who served in the Pacific as a navigator for the Military Air Transport Service. He took time out for schooling and teaching, but the Cuban crisis in October, 1962, called him back into service.

He now plans to make the service his career. The leopard tattooed on his right arm tells of a hitch in the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey.

No Delay

Problems? To keep the soldiers' mail moving so there will be no undue delay.

"We never allow the mail to pile up here," Aker says. "Now with the Christmas crush on, we have to make an extra effort to get the mail on its way."

"Every now and then a military situation will have priority on all military aircraft, but the minute planes are available, we start the mails moving. Our aim is to let no letter or parcel remain on our hands for more than 24 hours."

In almost all normal cases, Aker says, the mail moves out the day it comes in.

Other problems?

"I turn them over to Sgt. Adams," Aker says. "That man is tops in getting the soldier mail moved."

Can't Get Through

"Too many men over here are sending fresh fruit and vegetables home by mail," Adams said. "They get crushed and they spoil. They are rough on the mail. Most of it just can't get through."

Few letters and parcels are not delivered — less than about one-half of one per cent, Adams estimates. Insufficient address is the main reason; troop movements are the next.

Working under Aker and Adams is a staff of 17 U.S. military personnel and 25 Vietnamese.

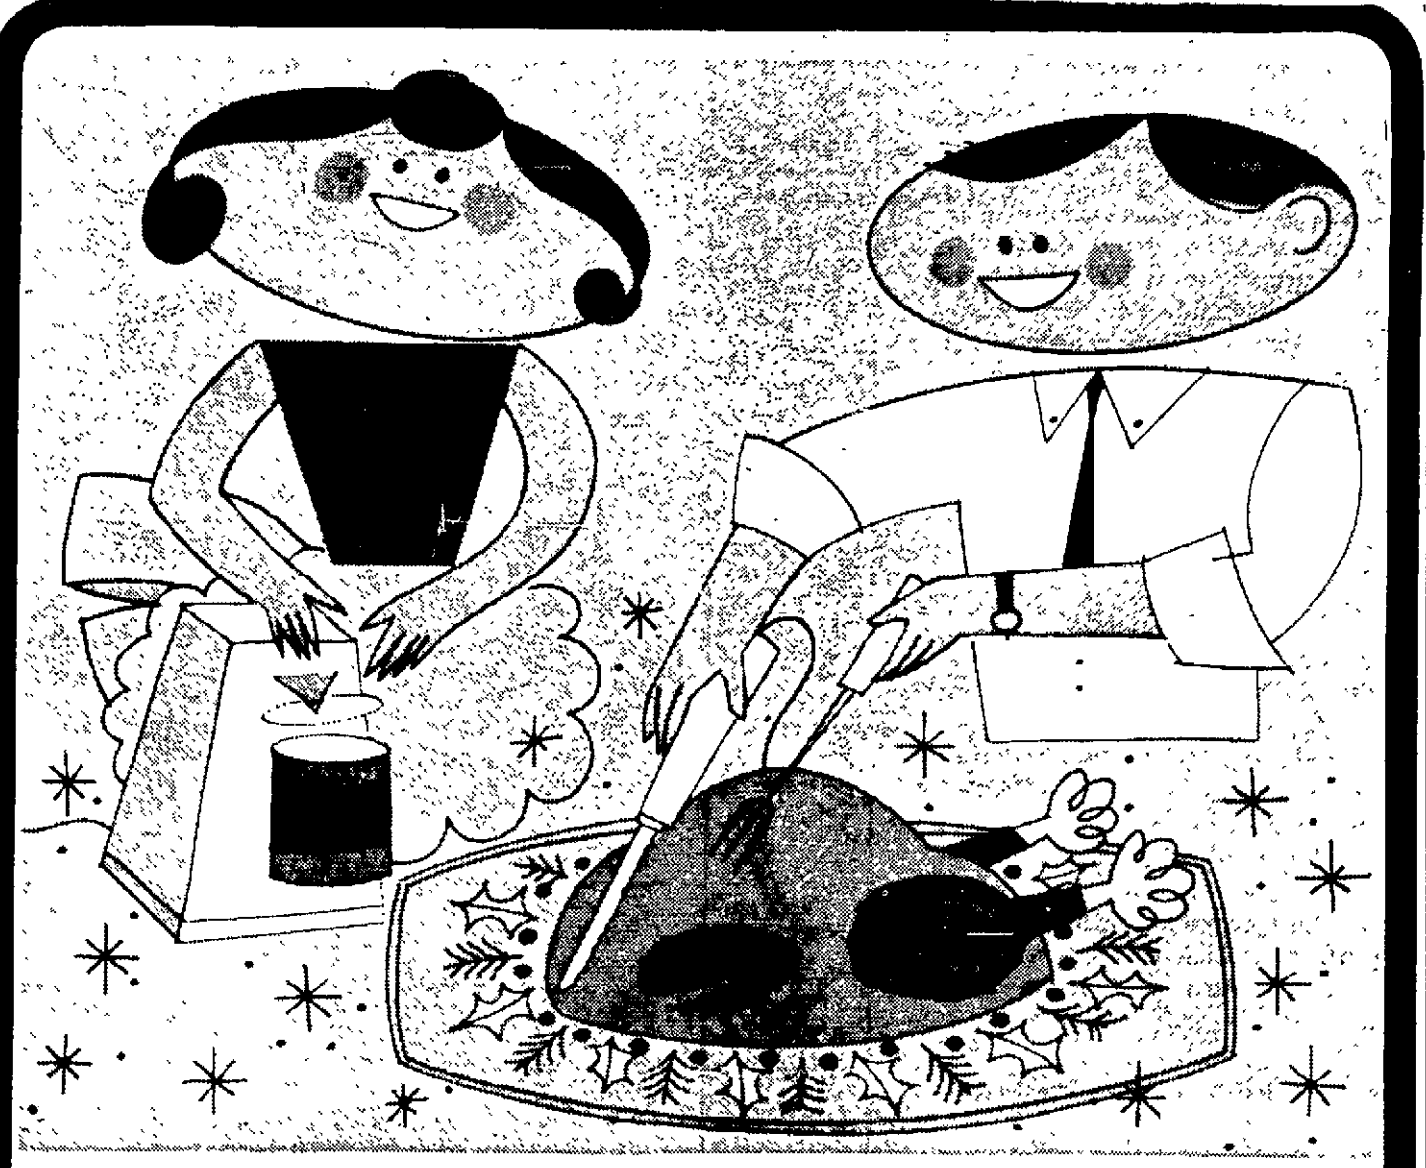

Elderly Woman Dies After Setting Herself Afire

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 67-year-old woman apparently died instantly when she walked into a restroom in a Venice service station Sunday, drenched her clothes with gasoline and then set herself afire, police said.

Officers said the victim was Charlotte Forrest, who lived in a rest home for the elderly.

A note found in her charred purse asked that her body be given to science," police said.

David Watson, a service station attendant who sold the victim a can of gas, said he assumed she was a motorist whose car had stalled.

Inflation Near But Checks Seem Adequate

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Not for nearly 10 years has there been so much confusion and public controversy about the imminence of an inflationary breakout in our country. Not since the mid-1950s have expectations of major inflation been so widespread — creating the danger that the expectations themselves will help make inflation a reality.

It's time for as cold-blooded an appraisal as can be made.

Porter

Here, in a simple Q. and A. is my attempt to tear into the complexities and get to the heart of the matter.

Q: Is it true that the danger of inflation is rising?

A: Yes. The evidence is all around us. The consumer price index has climbed 1.8 per cent this year, after rising at an annual rate of only 1.2 per cent between 1958 and 1964. Wholesale prices have risen 2.7 per cent in the past 12 months following six years of virtually perfect price stability. Industrial prices are up 1.4 per cent, after holding remarkably firm from 1958 to 1964. Food prices increases this year have been particularly disturbing. Had it not been for the excise tax cuts, the rise in consumer prices in 1965 almost surely would have been 2 per cent or more.

Q: Why is this happening now?

A: Because after 58 months of strong, solid, broad expansion, our economy is fully prosperous. Our overall unemployment rate is down to 4.2 per cent, lowest in eight years. Joblessness among key age groups is at a minimum, shortages of skilled labor are reappearing, the rate of rise in the productivity of labor has been smaller in 1965 than in 1964.

In many industries, companies are operating at or near capacity. Increasing demands for products across-the-board have been adding to backlogs of orders. Spending is rising at every level — government, business, consumer. The classic formulas for inflation are demand "pulling" up prices and costs "pushing" up prices. This is the developing background.

Q: What is being done or can be done to curb inflation?

A: The Federal Reserve System has just taken the traditional anti-inflation step of making credit harder to get and more costly, to discourage excessive borrowing. President Johnson has put the full force of the White House behind a call for restraint in wage and price increases. Release of metals from stockpiles is limiting price increases in critical areas. Helping to offset price pressures in 1966 will be these additional key forces:

(1) Rapidly mounting productive capacity as industry's record spending is translated into new plants and equipment.

(2) Enormous advances in technology and, quite possibly, a bigger rate of gain in worker productivity than in 1965.

(3) Fierce competition from imports.

(4) A rise in Social Security taxes which will drain almost $6 billion in cash from the spending stream.

(5) A jump of $8 billion or more in Treasury tax collections, assuming our economy and taxable incomes grow at only a "normal" pace in 1966 and our tax structure stays as is.

(6) A cutback in spending for several Great Society programs to counter the certain ballooning of spending for the Viet Nam war and to help limit budget deficits in the period ahead.

The Price Outlook
(7) No explosively inflationary wage settlements, for the simple reason that the 1966 pattern of wages for most of organized industry has been set in already negotiated wage settlements.

Q: What's the price outlook, then?

A: Even policymakers who insist the inflation threat has been exaggerated think that the consumer price rise will be at least 2 to 2½ per cent in 1966. This is borderline — and we're in a crucial test. With all authorities so keenly aware of the danger, though, I'd say that right now the odds are better than even that we'll not cross the borderline and we'll pass the test.

Student Writers At Hilbert Learn About Journalism

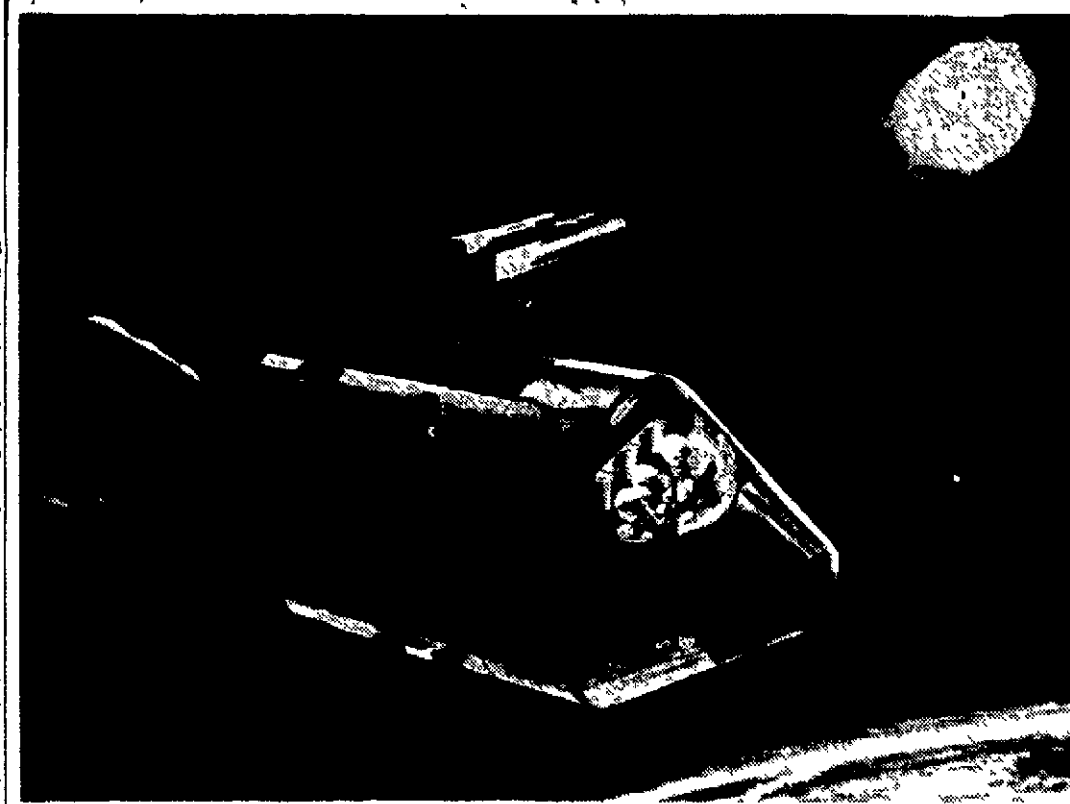

HILBERT — Student journalists at Hilbert High School learned how to produce a better school newspaper during a special meeting Thursday.

Mrs. Gilbert Thiel, correspondent for the Post-Crescent, talked to the staff of the Hilbert Hi-Lates on the qualities of a good scholastic publication.

"How a Modern Newspaper Is Published," a filmstrip showing the production of The Post-Crescent daily editions, was shown. Booklets on "How to Get More Out of Your Newspaper" were distributed.

"An enterprising school reporter is not only a genuine service to the school, but to the community as well," Mrs. Thiel told the student journalists.

She stressed that student newspapers should try to pattern their publications after the professional press, adding that complete coverage of school life is important.

Use Foil Paper Handicraft For Homemade Tree Trinkets

BY CAPPY DICK

Decorations for your Christmas tree are easy to make from a few sheets of foil paper — one silver, one green, one red and one bronze or gold.

The sheets usually are a yard square, so there will be ample material. You will also need spool wire, scissors and paste.

The type of paper to use is metallic-like on one side and white on the other, so to have your trinkets metallic on both sides.

The icicle in the picture is a quarter inch strip of silver and green pasted back to back and tightly wound in a spiral around a pencil. After removing the spiral, stretch it to make it long.

The holly in the picture is made from a circle with petals attached and a fringed center of needle hole through one point and thread a piece of spool wire through it so the star may be hung on the tree.

Make Bells

To make bells, cut a circle of silver paper and one of red. Paste them back to back and crush them over a dome-shaped salt shaker or similar object.

Mold them until the foil paper is firmly shaped. Make a little ball of silver paper for a clapper and attach it inside the bell with spool wire.

sides you must paste two identical cutouts back to back.

To make stars like that in the picture above use a pattern cut from ordinary paper because it is difficult to make a five-pointed star. With this as your guide, cut one star from gold foil paper and another from green. Paste them back to back. Crease each point down the center and dent in the center to give the star many surfaces that will reflect light. Make a contrasting foil poked through a small hole. The tube-like flower just above the holly is made the same way as a bell, but the edge is fringed and curled upward.

Conservation Unit Proposed for Africa

MORGES, Switzerland (AP)—A new convention asking governments to help save natural wild life in Africa was drafted this week at the Lake Geneva headquarters of the International Union for the Conservation of Nature at the request of the Organization for African Unity. It will replace the 1933 London convention drawn up when the African continent was ruled largely by European colonial powers.

Souls Where He Finds Them

Prayer in a Strip Joint Routine For Chaplain From Bourbon Street

BY JOHN S. LANG
NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Sin all around him inspires the Rev. Bob Harrington, who's known as the "Chaplain of Bourbon Street."

"The Lord was a fisher of men," explains the hefty, bushy-haired Baptist preacher,

"and this was the biggest fish-hole I could find."

On the Street

He prays with the Negro blind man in a wheel chair, jokes with the barker, stops girls on the sidewalk to ask if they know of Jesus' love, and goes to dressing room between shows to give out miniature Bibles to blushing dancers.

"Bob's got the greatest act on the street," says club owner Larry LaMarca.

Harrington, who glories in the title "Chaplain of Bourbon Street," bases his approach to religion largely on the story of the prodigal son.

Improve the Man

"The prodigal son is the one who awakened to find himself in a hogpen," says Harrington. "In the 20th century when you have a prodigal situation, a man will not leave out will write the government to come in and improve the hogpen—clean up the slop.

"The Great Society will never be made by improving the environment. You have to improve the man."

Some people didn't want his help when Harrington opened a chapel in the French quarter a few years back. One fellow ripped the pages from his Bible. Another poured beer over his head.

The 250-pound, 6-foot-2 preacher says he turned the other cheek and before long his necklers began to call him when they had troubles.

"I never met a tough man when he's dying," Harrington muses. "And they sure are weak in jail."

Then a young man staggered across Bourbon Street, tripped over a curb and grabbed a doorman. Harrington rushed to him: "I wish you'd help me!" cried the youth. There was blood on his face, blood on his hands.

The minister helped him into a cab and took him to a hospital. Later he explained the youth was taking heroin and had attempted suicide twice.

Harrington made the rounds of the clubs, visiting in dressing rooms and chatting with owners.

Heed Prayers

At the dressing room of Princess Soraya, who says she was named by a Gypsy tribe, the kneeling Harrington was told: "Bourbon Street really need prayers from what I've seen of it."

But when Harrington asked about her beliefs, the girl replied, "I don't believe in talking religion in a place like this."

Down the street in the dressing room of dancer Linda Brissette, she told him she lived a

White House Personality Cults Ended

President Becomes Principal Figure As Bundy Leaves

BY ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's White House staff is being systematically stripped of all the personality cults that marked the Kennedy and Eisenhower White House.

The result: a presidential staff that resembles Harry Truman's — discreet, secretive, and beyond public scrutiny.

The departure of McGeorge Bundy as the President's top foreign policy adviser in the quickly lose its glittering identity after Bundy leaves. As one official told us: "The President may entice a large-bore name into the Bundy slot, but it'll be a small-bore job."

Now under private discussion, for example, are several alternatives for the Bundy office, all of them distinctly small-bore: transform it into little more than a message center, a transmission belt for material from the State and Defense Departments and the Central Intelligence Agency to the President's oval office; or slim it down into a presidential fact-finding panel dealing with specific foreign crises as they arise.

Whatever Mr. Johnson decides, the new Bundy shop will not compete with the State Department as a source of original ideas, nor will Bundy's replacement compete with Secretary of State Dean Rusk. The Bundy operation unquestionably filled a foreign policy vacuum that still exists in the State Department, but since it inevitably led to a Bundy personality cult, it is now being disbanded.

Hagerty and Adams

Harry Truman's self-effacing White House staff, headed by the brainy Clark Clifford (now a Washington lawyer and Johnson intimate), was replaced in 1953 by an Eisenhower staff that at times rivalled the President himself for national attention, particularly Press Secretary James C. Hagerty and Sherman Adams, who was known as the most powerful man in Washington after Ike.

President Kennedy's staff was filled with men who made national reputations in the White House, such as Kenneth P. O'Donnell, Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien, Theodore Sorensen, and Bundy.

The old way was fine for Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy, but it is little short of heresy for President Johnson. Consider the two White House staffers now closest to Mr. Johnson, conservative Texans Marvin Watson, a corporation executive, and Jake Jacobsen, a charming lawyer.

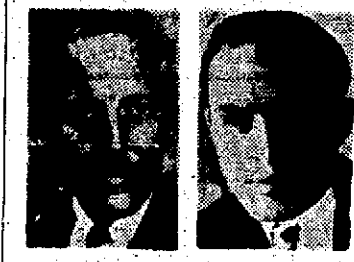

Watson controls all Presidential appointments. Jacobsen is the first man to see the President in the mansion every morning and invariably travels with him outside Washington. Watson and Jacobsen have no political ambitions and no desire for the limelight. They court anonymity and, according to their friends, their only ambition is to go home as soon as the President lets them. As long as they stay in the White House, they stay in the background.

Thus the department of Bundy has a deeper meaning than a single staff resignation. It marks the last step in the President's steady progress toward a White House staff completely homogenized. Except for LBJ himself, there is room for no more cult of personality at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue.

New London Police Seek Bulb Snatchers

NEW LONDON — City police are investigating the theft of light bulbs from Christmas decorations throughout the city. Police Chief Jack Algiers said the bulbs had been taken from trees, candles, Santa Claus' and other decorations.

Evans Novak

White House completes the President's studied transformation of his personal staff into a group of all but anonymous assistants who will seldom be seen or heard. The exception is Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers, whose job requires frequent public exposure.

Mr. Johnson was never happy in the Senate, or as vice president, with staff aides who build reputations of their own. Nor is he well-known for encouraging empire-building within his staff.

Small-Bore Job

Thus, despite speculation about a prominent replacement for Bundy, it will be a miracle if the Bundy shop of experts (the "Little State Department" of the last five years) does not typical family life, and there was a baby-sitter home with her two children.

He asked if she believed she could be active in church life and also be a stripper.

The tiny, red-haired dancer pondered, and finally answered, "No, I don't think so."

Walking back to his office, Harrington told about the time someone asked his wife if she worried about him associating with "loose women."

"She said she had worried about the way I lived for 11 years and it didn't do any good and now I've got someone much more powerful looking after me."

Win Souls

He started to walk on, the Bible under his arm. A bar owner stopped him and asked about a recent trip to Las Vegas, Nev.

"Did you win anything?" "I won some souls to the Lord," came the reply.

The two men laughed and the man asked how Las Vegas compared to Bourbon Street.

"Here they do a little stripping. In Las Vegas they come out stripped and go from there. If the devil has a heaven, that's it. Talk about high-class sin!"
